NEGRO VOTE ACT,

Doubts Legality of 14th Amendment.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special] Two leading drys of the senate made public their attitude on the fourteenth and fifteenth grants of franchise to Negroes.

Senators happen to be a western and a southerner. Their reply in one point—that the eighteenth amendment should be enforced over the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments the westerner, a prohibitionist, is willing to have the Republican platform pledge enforcement, provided it also pledges the enforcement of the eighteenth.

WH MUST NOT Be Obeyed.

The southerner, a Democrat, dismisses the idea of coupling the three amendments as "silly." He says the 14th and 15th were forced on the south and its will and will not be obeyed.

The southerner is Carter Glass of Virginia. In his letter he defended himself from criticism of his alleged inconsistency in opposing the federal agents to Kentucky to supercede the state election, while approving of federal agents into various states to enforce prohibition laws.

The attempt to draw an analogy between the attitude of the south on the question of Negro suffrage and the rights of persons intent upon the eighteenth amendment is simply absurd, Senator Glass.

I. W. W. WARNED
AS CRISIS NEARS
IN COLORADO

Appeal to Coolidge
in Eastern Tieup.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 25.—(P)—Faced with a warning that pickets would be met by bullets on at least one mining property, I. W. W. miners in Colorado coal fields tonight awaited the outcome of an appeal for all "footloose rebels" in the country to come to their aid.

After several days of intermittent picketing at the Columbine mine, the only coal property still operating in the northern Colorado fields, its owners informed Gov. W. H. Adams that the pickets would be shot if they appeared tomorrow. Mine guards are on duty.

As the call of the official newspaper of the I. W. W., Industrial Solidarity, for all "footloose rebels" to flock to the aid of the striking miners apparently has not met with a general response as yet.

Appeal to I. W. W.

The newspaper, which is published in Chicago, said:

"The rebels are moving on Colorado from all points of the United States. This is our hour of glory. Every I. W. W. who can possibly march into Colorado for strike duty should do so. Let nothing stop you. We have nothing to lose except our chains and we have a world to gain."

"You men of the fighting I. W. W. in the east, the north and south and the west, come on. You battles of the Ludlow massacre that we shall not forever be sure to industrial do-ma in.

Labor Appeals to Coolidge.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 15.—[Special]

The conference called by the American Federation of Labor to consider the plight of the 180,000 striking miners and their 600,000 dependents today decided to appeal directly to President Coolidge and to Gov. John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania.

President William Green of the federation acted at once and by long distance telephone arranged a conference with President Coolidge at the White House at 11 a. m. Monday.

Green and fellow members of the labor executive council will proceed before President Coolidge charges against the coal and iron police, state troopers, and deputy sheriffs and relate the situation involving the use of the police power of the state to deny the workers protection of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

See Fisher Today.

The committee was also authorized to appear before Gov. Fisher tomorrow to protest against conditions in the mining camps of Pennsylvania.

A committee report was placed before the 490 labor chiefs today at the concluding session. It declared that conditions in the mining regions presented a spectacle "that challenges and ought to shock the sense of justice of the American people."

After asserting that neither municipal nor state, nor federal government had attempted to oppose the denial of elementary civil rights to strikers, the report attacks the recent injunctions issued against the coal diggers and called upon the miners to defy the injunctions.

GODIVA TO RIDE, BUT HER HORSE WILL BE DRAPED

Compromise on Blanket for Tableau Steed.

Lady Godiva, technically correct to the last bare square inch of skin, will appear in the pageant preceding the Arts ball in the Hotel Stevens on Nov. 20. But, as a concession to those who oppose entirely unclothed tableaux, the horse she rides will wear a blanket.

This was decided yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Arts and Industries association over the protest of several members. "Chicago is one of the world's leading cities," said Mr. Jacob Baur, "but Chicago isn't Paris. Don't pull down our reputation with such an exhibition."

"We cannot afford to fall behind Paris," said William R. Moore. "Their Arts ball is famous the world over. After we give an artistic exhibition of Lady Godiva, our Arts ball will be just as famous."

Beauty Is Own Defense.

Mr. Otis Glidden asserted that the panel, if it included the unclothed figure of Coventry, must be so beautified that it will not be offensive. To Mrs. Joseph B. Long, who was Godiva, replied that the committee had both artistic and intellectual and could be depended upon. Miss Mary Mack, Pierre Blancke and Henry Little G. H. L. of the Tropicana Line of Typewriter Co., all favored the act. Mr. Little qualified his approval with the specification that the hairy girl in Chicago would be allowed to play the part. Old William Nelson Pelouze placed no responsibility for the pageant squarely up to A. N. Rebori, chairman of the committee. He was queer for nor against the Godiva panel, he asserted, although he is president of the association.

Chief Opponent Is Absent.

The principal opponent of Mr. Rebori's plan, Miss Marion Ghosh, was absent. She had announced a belief that it was indefensible on both artistic and moral grounds. Two other members, Mr. John Allen Carpenter and Mrs. Walter Borden, also were absent. If they should join Mrs. Long in trying to keep Paris out of Chicago the pros and the antis will be evenly divided.

"John Hertz has offered to lend us a horse," said Mr. Rebori. "If he hasn't got a white one we will take a chestnut and whitewash him. And I don't think this committee would object to having some nice artiste tapes on the horse."

DENIES MEXICO GAVE NICARAGUA REBELS MONEY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—Pedro Zepeda, representative of the rebel interests in Nicaragua, denied emphatically today that he had received money from the Mexican government either for himself or for the liberal cause in Nicaragua. He branded as pure invention the stories published in the United States to show transactions between Mexico and Nicaragua, as spurious.

Ban Hearst Papers.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The San Antonio Light today says a man was placed upon all Hearst newspapers by the Mexican government, according to information received by Mexican customs and immigration officials at Nueva Laredo. The Light, a Hearst paper, says in a story from Laredo:

"Copies of the San Antonio Light containing the first articles of a series dealing with President Calles' attempt to establish a liberal government in Nicaragua were confiscated at the Mexican end of the international bridge Monday night."

CITY SEEKS HIGH COURT RULING ON CAR LINES' TAXES

Attorneys for the city filed before the state Supreme court at Springfield yesterday a petition for a writ of certiorari against the Chicago Railways company involving approximately $2,338,000 for taxes and assessments levied against the company.

The city claims the company improperly deducted federal income and excise taxes from the amount due the city and that the city is entitled to interest on amounts tendered by the company but refused by the city in the years 1920 to 1923.

DURANTE OPENS WAR ON HISTORY OF LEIF ERICSON

Claims Vote Getting Plot and Slur to Columbus.

Attacking the story of Leif Ericson's discovery of America and claiming it is a chapter of history fostered by politicians seeking the votes of Scandinavian Americans, Oscar Durante, school trustee and editor of "L'Italia," yesterday announced the beginning of a campaign "to remove the Viking blot from the name of Christopher Columbus."

Chicagians of Italian descent, Mr. Durante said, were incensed by a report that leading Norwegian societies in Chicago were planning soon to present a formal petition to Mayor Thompson asking that Ericson supplant Columbus as the original discoverer of America in school history books.

The first objective in the Columbian drive, he said, would be to restore the full account of the Italian's discovery of America in the text books. In that, Mr. Durante added, he had the support of Mayor Thompson, who had told him to "put Columbus back in the school histories."

Attack Memorial Plan.

Furthermore, Mr. Durante bitterly attacked the growing tendency to honor Ericson at the expense of Columbus in memorial statues and public boulevards.

As a result of the search in the school histories for British propaganda during the hearing of the citizens against Capt. MacAndrews, Mr. Durante said he had found that many of them were skimming over the story of Columbus with only a brief mention of his glorious achievement.

"The Swedes and Norwegians may say that Leif Ericson discovered America long before Columbus," said Mr. Durante. "Very well, so did the Indians. Scientists tell us that the Indians came from Asia."

The Ericson legend is substantiated by a few bones and fragmentary relics. But what of it? What if Leif did lead a band of marauding adventurers across three thousand miles of water to find by accident the shores of North America and proved about for plunder? What benefit accrued to the civilized world? None whatever."

Man With no Name.

Christopher Columbus was different. He was a man with an idea and had the tenacity to set it through. And his voyage opened up the new world to the civilized races of Europe.

"They're going to put up a statue of Ericson in Grant park with a sign on it: 'This is the man who first discovered America.' How can we then put up there a statue of Columbus with the inscription: 'This, the discoverer of America'?"

Changing the name of the outer boudoir in order to honor Ericson was another imposition. It should have been called "Columbus Drive," or at least given a more euphonious title than Ericson."

Discarded Columbus Statue.

"Down in the basement of an old storehouse some time ago I discovered the old bronze statue of Columbus that

JUDGE ORDERS NEW QUIZ INTO OIL JURY FIXING

Defends Himself
Before Grand Jury.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special]—The investigation of the jury fixing scandal which caused a mistrial in the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy trial on Nov. 2 was concluded yesterday and another was instituted.

The grand jury inquiry, which included Harry T. Sinclair, New York oil magnate; William J. Burns, internationally famous detective; and others in an alleged plot to fix a mistrial, wound up this afternoon with Burns and his son, W. Sherman Burns, as the final witnesses. Harry Mason Day, vice president of Sinclair Exploration company, and John Clark of Chickasaw, vice president of the Sinclair Refining company, are at liberty on bail under federal charges linking them with Sinclair in a conspiracy to "fix" the Teapot Dome trial. A warrant for the arrest of Sinclair has been held in custody pending the completion of the grand jury investigation and the return of indictments.

Get More Documents.

A few minor documents, including a few telephone calls and telegrams from Sinclair's Mayflower apartment during the Teapot trial will be filed with the grand jury now and presentations of the findings probably will be made by District Attorney Peyton Gordon on the day or on Thursday.

The presentations warrant criminal proceedings against those named.

Documents will be prepared and ready in time for trial at once, according to Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Gordon refused to predict who would be indicted or to comment on reports that the indictments will charge bribery and subversion of perjury as well as conspiracy to influence the trial of the Teapot Jury.

Hear Contempt Violations.

Justice Siddons in the day Justice Frederick Soddy, who presided over the Teapot trial, and who has maintained absolute silence since that day he declared a mistrial on the basis of the four affidavits submitted by government lawyers, created a mild sensation when he appointed a committee of lawyers to determine whether those involved in the jury fixing scandal should be held for contempt of court.

Justice Siddons' action came as a complete surprise to United States Attorney Gordon, who was named by John E. Lasky and James S. McMillin on the committee, and Mr. Gordon declined to discuss the development, which he admitted did not understand, in view of the fact that the grand jury already has investigated the charges.

Calls for Prosecution.

The order issued by Justice Siddons directs the special committee "to forthwith proceed to inquire whether there is reasonable cause to believe that a criminal contempt of this court has been committed, and if so, by what person or persons; and if upon inquiry no such cause is found exists to proceed as expeditiously as possible to have the same, if any, tried and pronounced in this court against the person or persons, charged with criminal contempt of court, to the end that the authority and power of the court be vindicated, sustained, and enforced."

The four affidavits on which Justice Siddons based his order and which were read before the court were made by Assistant United States Attorneys Neil Burkinshaw and Miller M. Shear, Don K. King, a newspaper man, and J. Ray Akers, former mail car conductor. The Burkinshaw and Shear affidavits charged Sinclair had engaged Burns agency to trail the Teapot Dome jurors. Harry Mason Day, vice president of Sinclair Exploration company, was acting as a liaison between the two and the detectives.

Shows Details Charged.

Mr. King and Akers affidavits charged J. Kidwell, one of the men, with having boasted he could get out of the Sinclair trial with a "car a block away" and with having asserted that he had an advantage for himself in the "not guilty" verdict. Kidwell has de-

MANITOBA WILL FIGHT BOOTLEG WITH BEER SALE

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Manitoba Free Press will say tomorrow morning that in a determined effort to eliminate the bootleg liquor trade the Manitoba government has prepared drastic changes in the provincial liquor laws, according to reliable reports.

"Sweeping changes in the liquor laws of the province are made in the legislation which the provincial government will submit when the legislature assembles early next month," according to the Free Press. "All existing liquor legislation is repealed and a new law will, according to unofficial but reliable reports, provide not only for the sale of beer by the glass, but for the sale of hard liquor by the bottle, or the cash and carry system."

LEWIS CHARGES STATE WITNESS SLEW JUNKMAN

Admits Robbery Sentence
as He Takes Stand.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES TARIFF TINKERING TO HELP FARMERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Revision of the tariff to equilibrate more nearly the benefit of the protective tariff system as between agriculture and manufacturing industries does not seem to President Coolidge to present a practical means of providing farm relief.

A recommendation for such action as made by the business men's commission on agriculture, headed by Charles Nagel of St. Louis, has failed to meet with the President's approval.

President Coolidge feels that present proposals due to great extent to the protective tariff policy and that any general reduction in tariff rates on manufactured goods would lead to industrial depression. Any curtailment of the earning power of industrial workers would react against the farmers by tending to restrict their home markets.

The suggestion of the Nagel commission for a revision of railroad rates on farm products meets with the President's approval.

witness was unable to explain why he went to considerate place to have his wounds treated by a physician who made no report to the police.

Move Regarded Defense Coup.

Harry J. (Lefty) Lewis, labor organizer, on trial for the murder of Max Braverman, a junk peddler, last Aug. 24, who was witness yesterday in his defense. It was predicted that Lewis would not dare to testify because the fact that he was sentenced in 1920 to serve a term of forty-five years in a Missouri penitentiary for a bank robbery could then be presented to the jury. The sentence was commuted after Lewis had served about five years.

Lewis not only admitted that he was convicted of the robbery but he struck back at the state by hinting that Louis Newman, one of the prosecution's principal witnesses, was the real slayer of Braverman. Newman, he declared, fired several shots in the melee in front of the junk shop at 2645 West Roosevelt road where Braverman was slain. Newman's home was bombed some weeks ago as a warning, the state charges, that he should not testify for the state.

Says Bullet Was Meant for Him.

Lewis' version of the slaying offered a striking contrast to the story told by eight state's witnesses who positively identified the labor agent as the man who drew a revolver and shot Braverman. Lewis' testimony came as being set on by a score of junkmen, who slugged him with iron bars. The bullet which killed Braverman was in reality meant for him, he declared.

Under cross-examination of State's Attorney Crowe, a number of discrepancies in Lewis' story were uncovered. He admitted that he had visited the junk yard on days previous to Aug. 16 and had been accompanied on those occasions by a number of other labor agents. On the day of the shooting, however, he was alone he declared.

After his fall he was picked up by two strangers and driven around until he regained consciousness was attacked by the prosecutor. And the when he had worked in such a capacity.

Lewis indignantly denied that his organization had been formed merely for the purpose of milking the profits of monopoly dues or that it was kept in existence by terrorist methods. Instead, the union did the peddlers a great deal of good, he asserted, although he was vague in describing these benefits.

Then he continued on a tale of misfortune which has befallen him beginning last March. At that time his right leg was burned severely and he was in bed for four months, he said. He showed the jury the scar of the burn.

When Lewis was able to leave his home in August he was but an invalid on crutches, he testified. He found that his uncle had fallen to pieces and he set about the task of repairing him. He found that the peddlers failed to appreciate the benefits to be received from the union, had revolted against him. They were plotting to slug him and frighten him into discontinuing the union, he charged.

His Version of Shooting.

"On Aug. 26, the day Braverman was killed, I got to the junk yard about 3 o'clock in the afternoon," the witness testified. "I found a pocketful of money scattered all over the yard and I began to count various peddlers standing there who weren't wearing their buttons. I said that to Braverman and he replied:

"Get out of here with your damned buttons! I was walking away when I heard a holler. I turned around and saw Max Rosenkovich pull out an iron pipe and start to swing at me.

"I lunged for him, grabbed him by the throat, and then I heard another shout and some one hit me on the head with an iron bar. I saw Louis Newman coming out of Cook's junk shop with a pistol in one hand and a piece of pipe in the other. He fired several shots at me.

Kicked and Beaten, He Claims.

"Max Lurye struck me in the hand with an iron bar. I fell in the street and they kicked me and struck me with clubs. I fell all the time and knocked unconscious. The next thing I knew I was in an automobile with two strangers. I asked them to take me to Dr. Parker at Halsted and Jackson boulevard.

"After I was treated by a doctor, I waited for several days until I could walk again. As I heard I was wanted by police for the murder of Braverman, I surrendered."

The state will take a half day for re-examination today. Testimony will be offered, it is said, that two state's witnesses were approached by J. Goldenberger, a defense witness, and an attempt made to bribe them. Final arguments will then follow and each side will take about four or five hours. The case probably will be given to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

ADOPTION DECREE VOIDED AS FATHER FIGHTS FOR CHILD

Herman Baumgarten, German citizen, won another battle yesterday in his litigation here to gain the custody of his daughter, Helen Angeline Baumgarten, 9 years old, an American citizen, whom he had not seen until he arrived in Chicago a few weeks ago.

Courts Judge L. L. Weaver set aside an adoption decree obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krueger of Evanston shortly before the estranged wife died in 1925. Hearing on a petition for a new adoption decree, brought by the Kruegers, was set for Dec. 12.

TAKE ADDITIONAL DEAD FROM GAS TANK WRECKAGE

(Picture on back page.) Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 16.—(UPI)—The removal tonight of two more bodies from the explosion-torn Pittsburgh clay pot plant, and the death in a hospital of one of the injured, the death toll in yesterday's disastrous gas tank explosion had reached 26.

The bodies of two unidentified victims of the blast were removed from the rear cellar of the clay pot plant and taken to the county morgue for identification.

Probate Inventory Filed at Waukegan.

The inventory of the estate of the late John R. Thompson, filed yesterday in the Probate court at Waukegan, lists assets of the restaurant at between $3,000,000 and $7,000,000. With the exception of $4,000, he bequeathed the estate will be paid by his widow, Mrs. Rose H. Thompson, a son, John R. Thompson, and two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Thompson Green and Mrs. Florence Thompson.

Mr. Thompson, by an order entered 74,600 Holding Shares.

The main item in the inventory is 74,600 shares of capital stock in the John R. Thompson Security corporation, a holding and investing concern. The par value of the stock is listed at $100, but the law firm of Mayes, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, handling the estate, said the market value of the stock was far below par.

Between $350,000 and $1,000,000 of the estate is in real estate, according to the lawyers. The real estate includes the new Masonic temple, the Thompson Lake Forest residence, and the Thompson farm in Vermilion county, Ill.

The inventory lists 400 shares of capital stock with a par value of $25 a share in the John R. Thompson Co. In the Yellow Taxi corporation and the New York Transportation company, the inventory shows only one share in each, although heavier investments might be included in the holdings of the John R. Thompson Securities corporation.

Stocks of Doubtful Value.

Stocks described by the inventory as of doubtful value were 188 shares in the Temco Corn and Fruit Products company and 1,500 shares in the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railroad company.

Goods and chattels, as shown by a bill of appraisement, are worth $341,859.46. Cash, on deposit at five Chicago banks, totaled $49,344.

LAW TO REQUIRE THEATER PARKING SPACE IS SOUGHT

A city ordinance compelling owners of neighborhood theaters and auditoriums to provide parking space of the street for the automobiles of their patrons was proposed to Corporation Commissioner Ettelson yesterday by Ald. W. A. Rowan [49th].

The problem of automobile congestion around theaters is gradually becoming more pressing," the alderman declared. "Residents within two or three blocks of big theaters cannot even park their machines at their own curb."

About 10 per cent of a theater's patrons come in automobiles, Ald. Rowan estimated, and suggested, therefore, that the ordinance specify that parking space for cars carrying 10 per cent of the house's capacity be required.

Mr. Ettelson said that he would render an opinion as to the legality of such an ordinance.

ROUMANIA HAILS FREED CAROLIST; PREMIER PANICKY

[Chicago Tribune From Service]
BUCHAREST, Roumania, Nov. 15.—

While the verdict acquitting M. Manolev, early this morning of a charge of seeking to overthrow the regency and return former Crown Prince Carol as regent, if not king, generally was cheered, a veritable panic ensued among members of the government. Premier Bratiano immediately called a meeting of the cabinet, which without delay issued a communiqué. It said the "government desired to make an example of M. Manolev, but the committee decided on the acquittal of the defendant." The future will show whether it was to the advantage or interests of the country. The verdict does not budge the government in the slightest degree, but means that the government will use every means and power to defend the present dynasty and, regency.

Premier Bratiano is reported to have rushed to the regency with the news of the acquittal, but instead of being encouraged to take severe tactics against the opposition, was instructed to seek a basis of agreement with all the parliamentary leaders. M. Jorga, formerly Prince Carol's tutor, announced that former Premier Aricescu, the national peasant party, and other members of the opposition had agreed to join a campaign to oust M. Bratiano.

In the letter Senator Borah said he was perfectly willing to have a plank included in the Republican platform favoring enforcement of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments as well as one for observance of the eighteenth amendment. He sought to turn the tables on Senator Edge by inquiring if he would accept a dry plank if one on the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments is approved.

Prosperity, gained through his wife's cooperation, changed Henry R. He then began entertaining friends, "male and female," and last March he asked her to get a divorce, but she refused because of their two children, she alleges.

Former Bank Employee Held on $10,000 Fraud Charge

Harry E. Ortlund, said to be a former assistant cashier of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, was arrested at the home of his wife, 7357 North Ashland avenue, last night on a confidence game charge. It is alleged that Ortlund several months ago sold for $10,000 a mortgage belonging to Miss Matilda Wright, 3550 North Kilpatrick avenue. Police Sergeant Thomas Meagher and Oscar Geise traced Ortlund to Peoria and he was arrested when he returned last night to visit his wife. Ortlund formerly lived at 1843 Lunt avenue.

"I strongly advocate a thorough alliance between America, England, France and Germany and, if possible, Italy, as a guaranty for peace," said Dr. Bruhn last night. "I hope the time may not be far away when American laws will allow the formation of trusts. Such organizations have been most beneficial in Germany's experience and they may be

"When I was first in America in 1902, even at the Krupp artillery works we did not think a war in which Germany would be involved was so near." Dr. Bruhn added. "In 1905 when I was sent to Russia to organize new agencies for the sale of Krupp railroad material we knew that Russia wanted to extend her traffic system. We did not believe in war and did not want it."

CLERGYMEN UNDERTAKE TO HANDLE POLITICAL OPPOSITION.

Methodist ministers at their Monday meeting considered a resolution declaring that "we favor supporting those business firms which do not advertise in wet newspapers." It was proposed that the resolution be adopted as expressing the public policy of the churches represented and that it be sent throughout the country as a guide to ministers and church associations.

The public policy committee of the Methodist association advised against the adoption of such a course, and the Rev. Dr. Kirk W. Robbins of Hemenway church of Evanston suggested that what was proposed was a boycott and unlawful. The mover of the resolution was the Rev. Dr. King D. Beach and he and other supporters of the boycott made it plain that the policy was to be directed against THE TRIBUNE. "I'm in favor of trying to throw into the management of the paper a little of the fear of God," said Dr. Beach.

The ministers did not get to a decision but postponed the further consideration for three weeks. The clergymen in sympathy with the proposal made a complete case against the mixing of religion and government. They demonstrated the ineptitude of the clergymen as a church representative in politics. They revealed the danger of putting an organized ministry into political action.

The point against THE TRIBUNE is that it has a different political opinion than the ministerial body. The ministers regard the eighteenth amendment as a proper part of the constitution. THE TRIBUNE does not. They think the Volstead act is not only a legitimate but a wise statute exercising a proper function of government. THE TRIBUNE does not.

Furthermore the ministers think that the Volstead act and the amendment are so invested with morality that opposition to them is immoral. Such of them as care to preserve a more liberal pose will say that they do not wish to suppress a contrary opinion, but that in fact is not the case. They do not believe that contrary opinion if it seeks to get results in political action, it seeks to prevent the passage of more drastic prohibition legislation. If it tries to modify the brutality of enforcement, can be a moral opinion. The ministers are not candid when they grant their opposition any rights and many of them quite candidly admit the effort.

The question is one of political opinion and government action but, assuming that prohibition is the majority party just now as indicated by the facts of legislation and administration, then the minority opposed to prohibition is immoral. Therefore it has no rights and if it insists that it has it should be punished.

In the opinion of the ministers supporting the boycott the punishment should be such as might compel the opposition by loss of revenue and property to cease to abandon its opinions and the expression of them and to submit to what a ministerial body has decided is right. If opposition can be handled in no other way it must be handled by suppression.

In the case of THE TRIBUNE it was proposed that the advertisers should be informed that the church membership supporting prohibition would not buy anything offered for sale in the columns of THE TRIBUNE so long as THE TRIBUNE continued its opposition to prohibition and the arguments against it. In other words, THE TRIBUNE would be permitted to exist only if it adopted the ministerial opinion as to this political question of prohibition.

As to prohibition, it could shut up or close up. It may be doubtful if such a proposal could be seriously made in any field of political controversy except in one in which the organized clergymen took a partisan part. Other American partisans will try to condemn and defeat opposition, to outwit it, outpace it and outvote it, but they stop short of trying to suppress it forcibly or to hustle it off to limb.

It happens that the method proposed by the ministers is unlawful. It is action against which the law endeavors to protect victims who might otherwise be selected for punishment by great organizations. Seemingly that consideration did have some weight with some of the ministers discussing the proposed boycott but not with others. This aspect of the matter however is not so significant. It is incidental. The essence is in the church willingness to suppress opposition when a church organization has decided in favor of a political idea.

Therein lies the incongruity of church organization in politics. It is unlikely that clergymen will have decided and vehement opinions unless they are serving public morality. When they have decided that they are serving public morality opposition to them must be immoral, and immorality cannot have any of the privileges of political action as guaranteed in the American system of government.

The tendency of organized churchmen when they go outside their performance of accepted ministerial duties and project themselves as organized bodies into affairs of government is to destroy the principles of government. Their first assumption is that they cannot be wrong. Therefore, no contrary opinion can have any validity or anything about it which demands respect. It should not be allowed.

Prohibition happens to be the outstanding political interest of the organized clergymen in politics, but that does not close the field to them. Their ideas can go further and in other directions, and whatever these ideas are and however they may be expressed, it will be regarded by them as immoral and unsocial to oppose them.

In line with this boycott resolution, it will then be not only permissible but mandatory to suppress opposition. That is precisely why there is separation of church and state.

MR. SARGENT'S DUTY IN ALABAMA.

The attorney general of Alabama has made a valiant fight against the masked floggers who have terrorized his state, but the fight is far from won. Despite overwhelming evidence, it is difficult to obtain convictions. The floggers hide their bodies in klansmen's robes and their depravity in a cloak of sanctimony. They pretend to enforce the community's moral judgment upon bootlegging and sexual irregularity and the pretension has often been accepted at face value by their fellow citizens. Attorney General McCall needs all the help, financial and moral, that the law of the land will give him.

It is remarkable that the attorney general of the United States has remained inactive. The fourth amendment to the constitution guarantees the "right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures." Arthur Hitt, the Negro, who had refused to sell his hillside farm near Birmingham, was seized at his house in the dead of night, dragged into the woods, and lashed into unconsciousness. Broken in spirit and body, he sold his freehold for a song and went into hiding. The guarantee of security of person and property, so far as Arthur Hitt is concerned, is a scrap of paper.

The first section of the fourteenth amendment, though no less compelling, has also been disregarded. A state is forbidden to "deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law," and it also may not "deprive any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." Alabama has permitted both provisions to be violated in the case of Arthur Hitt and a hundred others. The fifth section of the amendment authorizes congress "to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." Congress is clearly empowered to call Mr. Sargent to his duty if he continues to neglect it.

Hitt is but one victim. There have been scores of them, of whom Mr. McCall has record, and it is reasonable to assume that as many others, white and black, have been so terrorized that they have fled without daring to complain. It is only because Hitt had a courageous friend, a white man, that the facts concerning him ever came to light to shame Alabama and the United States government, which has not, as yet, raised a finger on behalf of the victims.

THE DEFENSE OF PANAMA.

Edward P. Warner, the assistant secretary of the navy for aviation, has recommended the addition of 100 planes to the air force now at Panama in addition to fireproof hangars and assembly and repair shops for airplanes. In naval circles the impression is that the recommendation of Mr. Warner is to be carried out.

Panama is peculiarly vulnerable to attack from the air because of the canal locks. A direct hit on one of them might interfere seriously with the successful operation of the canal and impair the mobility of the fleet from ocean to ocean. The best defense against airplane attack is a superior air force. Accordingly, the proposal to increase the air forces in the Canal Zone will meet with general approval.

More than that, we believe that serious consideration should be given to proposals to unify the defense of the canal under a single head. At present the army handles the coast defense guns and maintains a small infantry force in the zone, while the navy defends the approaches to the canal. The air defense is divided. There is an army air force and a navy air force under independent command. In the face of an enemy the divided command can become a source of weakness which might prove disastrous. While there is something to be said for army control, the case for the navy seems stronger. The holding of the canal is not only of greater importance to the navy but in all probability any decisive engagement with Panama as the objective will be fought at sea. The rôle of the land force will be secondary.

Editorial of the Day

VERMONT'S FLOOD.

The Charlestown, W. Va., Gazette.] Recently it was the extreme south, now it is the extreme north, that is devastated by flood. The difference in the two visitations is that, while the Vermont area affected is smaller, the season and general conditions are more difficult to deal with. In Vermont it is now very cold, something which the Mississippi flood sufferers did not have to encounter. At best, farming conditions in Vermont are not good, while the lower Mississippi country is always very productive.

One has to admire the thrift and courage of the New Englanders. With climate and soil against them, they farmed during colonial days and laid away sufficient capital to lead the country in manufacturing and to create a solid citizenship that builds schools and colleges and values manhood and character.

In their present affliction the people of Vermont have the sympathy of the entire country. If there shall come an appeal for help, it will meet here the same generous response that flowed out to the Mississippi sufferers. The President, a native of Vermont, little thought, when helping the Mississippi flood sufferers, that before the year would pass his own state, seemingly secure, would be among those needing a comprehensive system of flood prevention. But the forces of nature are impartial and, excepting the deserts, no section is safe from floods.

It would be very strange if, in the light of this year's experiences, the country would be satisfied with less, in the way of prevention, than science can plan and our resources can construct.

TEMPERAMENTAL SINGER.

The treatment of prisoners in one South Australian jail is remarkably humane. A regular visitor inquired recently regarding an old offender.

"What's wrong with Bill? He seems to have a grouse."

"No wonder," said one of his mates. "He threatened the warden with a shovel today and now they won't let him go to choir practice." —Smith's Weekly, Sydney.

MORE ADVICE ON CURING COLDS.

MANY are the processes for the prevention of colds. Recently quoted Dr. Cheney as being of the opinion that eating too much acid ash food and too little alkali ash food is the principal cause. He advocated a continued diet of vegetables, fruits, potato and bean breads, and sour milk. To cure a cold he advocates the proper use of alkalies.

E. R. H. writes that he is a chemist in the federal service. For years he has succeeded in avoiding colds. He writes:

"I have found that the bicarbonate treatment does the work of preventing colds, also use about one teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in a pint of warm water.

"Spray the interior of the nose, using an atomizer, with a solution of one-third teaspoonful of baking soda to one-half a glass of water.

"There is nothing to the old advice to 'Feed a Cold.'"

OH, WELL, if you have to see everything, we suppose we'll have to show you Dinn's letter.

"I know instinctively," he writes, "that you are looking for a pen straight in the eye with all the most honorable intentions in the world, I was reminded that my last long-hand letter to you was such a dismal failure that my courage faded from me, so I am resorting to this horrible mechanical device." (You would tease him about his handwriting, would you?) . . . "Thank you, and again thank you for all the lovely letters you forwarded to me from my friends (I like to think of them as really my friends) in Chicago, and, indeed, out of it. I have been trying to think of some apt phrase to express my most intricate feelings on the beauty and sincerity of them, but when I stop thinking, I can only say quite simply again to them, 'Thank you.' Do they, I wonder, realize how much, how tremendously much it means to me to know that I am, in my small way, giving a little happiness to them? I hope so and—God bless them all."

SMITH PREPARES NEW FIGHT FOR SEAT IN SENATE

His Attorney in Capital to Arrange Details.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Cornelius J. Doyle of Springfield, Ill., personal attorney for Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois, arrived in Washington today to arrange the preliminary details of the latter's fight for admission to the senate when congress convenes on Dec. 5.

Mr. Smith, who as senator designate to fill the unexpired portion of the late Senator McKinley's term, was denied a seat following disclosures that he accepted a large contribution from Samuel Insull, Chicago utility magnate, while still acting as chairman of the state commerce commission, will come on to Washington soon after the Thanksgiving holidays, according to Mr. Doyle.

Come as Senator-elect.

Inasmuch as Mr. Smith will appear before the senate this winter as a senator-elect rather than as a senator-designate, his new battle for admission will be based on entirely different grounds, Mr. Doyle continued, and his insistence upon his right to take the oath of office will be seconded by a joint committee of the Illinois state legislature specially appointed for that purpose.

The committee, including Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, State Senators Richard Barr and John Dailey, and State Representatives Reed Cutler and Guse J. Johnson, with Speaker Robert Scholz of the house will bring to Washington the resolution of the legislature asserting Illinois' constitutional right to two senators in the coming session.

The resolution will be formally presented to the senate by Senator Deen [Rep., Ill.] and in the event that Mr. Smith's credentials are referred to the senate privileges and elections committee the legislative group will demand to be heard in his behalf, Mr. Doyle said tonight.

Credentials Undisputed.

"This time we will fight on wholly different grounds," declared Mr. Doyle. "Mr. Smith was elected by 70,000 plurality and neither of his two opponents have filed any contest against him. He holds undisputed credentials from the people of Illinois entitling him to a seat for a full six years' term."

minute and given the endorsement as state treasurer for his third term.

Other candidates, all incumbents, who received the convention endorsement are:

United States senator, Robert M. La Follette Jr.

Lieutenant governor, Henry A. Huber, Stoughton.

Attorney general, John W. Reynolds, Green Bay.

The party platform, according to Senator La Follette, will be made public at a later date when the ruling Wisconsin faction will again hold a state convention.

"The nomination and election of the present governor of Wisconsin was accomplished through a campaign of deceit, misrepresentation, and trickery in which the old line stalwart organization, the reactionary daily press, the Leinenkugel federal patronage machine, the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association, the Anti-Saloon league, and the Ku Klux Klan formed the unholy alliance that backed him," La Follette charged.

Gov. Zimmerman, the senator declared, was represented to be a dry in the dry portion of the state and a wet in the territory where the voters like their beer.

"Having made his peace secretly with the bitter enemies of the progressive movement, Gov. Zimmerman falsely advertised himself as a La Follette progressive candidate, and this misled many thousands of progressive voters," he declared.

"During his campaign he took a positive stand on two important issues, the repeal of the personal property tax and the pledge to take conservation out of politics. As a governor he has ducked the tax issue and has proved a backslider in the cause of conservation."

CERMACK NAMES COMMITTEE TO URGE AIR RIGHTS

The committee will be composed of Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman; William Busse, Harry A. Newby, Oscar W. Schmidt, and Frank J. Wilson. A public hearing had been called by the commission to discuss the matter.

AN IRES EUS SELLECTS TORS TO TRY M FOR MURDER

Right to Conduct His Own Defense.

Nov. 16.—(Special)—

Over his victory when he is right, man or woman, to insure prospective jurors himself.

Henneke picked up his law books and the battle in his own defense.

On the second day of trial, in which Remus, the former police commissioner, is being tried for the murder of his wife, Imogene, he showed the jury box. There were seven jurors seated in a twelfth, a woman, who had completed her service and who probably waited tomorrow morning.

There are now three women and six men among the tentative jurors.

Under the Ohio law the jury will consist of thirteen members. The thirteenth sits with the rest of the jury and hears all the evidence, but he does not take part in the deliberation unless one of the others should become ill or for some other cause be unable to serve the remainder of the trial.

Six were chosen today from the twenty-four talesmen who were interrogated and as the court adjourned Judge Chester R. Shook ordered that a second venire of fifty names be drawn from the jury wheel and ordered to appear tomorrow morning.

Remus bore into the state's offense at every opportunity, crashing frequently with Charles P. Taft II., prosecuting attorney, and his assistant, Carl E. Basler.

Charges Intimidation.

Though the matter was not brought into open court, Remus threatened to appeal to Judge Shook because Edward Henneke, an assistant prosecutor, made an attempt Monday night to have Mrs. George Connors, wife of his former secretary, appear at the prosecutor's office. He indicated that the prosecutor's office had attempted to intimidate Mr. Connors.

Mr. Taft and Mr. Basler in turn charged that Charles H. Elston, Remus' attorney, was trying to keep the Hennekes away from them. They said Henneke had been trying to find Connors for several days and wanted to question Mrs. Connors in the belief that she might be able to tell them where he is. They said she telephoned Mr. Elston Monday night and when the attorney learned that Mr. Remus had no warrant or subpoena advised Mrs. Connors not to go to the prosecutor's office.

Women Taken Away.

While Henneke was standing on the porch of the Connors' home the lights were turned out suddenly, two men appeared in the darkness, accompanied Mrs. Connors to the street, and whisked her away in an automobile, Mr. Basler asserted.

Remus earlier had objected in court because Mr. Basler asked a prospective juror whether he knew "George Connors, a Remus lieutenant."

Remus was on his feet in an instant indignantly rushing to the defense of those who do not involve moral turpitude.

The tentative jurors were taken from the courtroom while counsel argued whether Remus should be permitted to interrogate talesmen.

"We object to any interrogation of prospective jurors by Mr. Remus if he is going to plead insanity," Mr. Basler argued. "We certainly don't want an insane person to be questioned."

Don't Favor Bootlegging.

Remus' former activities as a bootlegger became the subject of another clash between opposing counsel when Miss Besse A. Thompson, a prospective juror, was being interrogated by Mr. Elston.

"I don't favor bootlegging," she had answered Mr. Taft when he asked her whether she would be prejudiced because Remus had been a bootlegger.

"You still have that prejudice against bootleggers, don't you, Miss Thompson?" Elston demanded.

"We submit that every lawabiding person is supposed to be prejudiced against crime and criminals," Mr. Basler objected.

Mr. Elston turned toward the assistant prosecutor. "It isn't necessary for you to make speeches to the jury," he shouted.

Remus Defends Himself.

Then Remus, who always has maintained that while he broke the law when he was bootlegging, he did not commit any moral wrong, jumped into the battle with arms waving and words pouring out in an ornate stream.

"A man who violates the prohibition laws is no criminal, your honor," he asserted. "The courts have always held that a violation of that kind does not involve moral turpitude."

Mr. Elston said the defense was pleading temporary insanity at the time Mrs. Remus was killed, and only

COOKING FOOLED HIM, HE CHARGES; ASKS COURT HELP

Harold Lomas, 34, of 1105 North Laramie avenue, appeared in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday to complain that his wife, Gertrude, had deceived him.

found out that it was her married sister and not Gertrude, who did the cooking before."

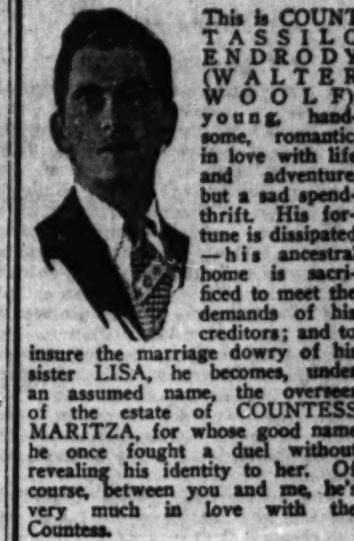

Mrs. Lomas, not denying the charges, said that Harold didn't give her enough money to buy the sort of food he wanted.

"Give her some money and be patient," advised Judge Jones. "And let Mrs. Lomas buy a cook book and practice."

The Love Romance of a Count, a Countess, and a Gypsy Maid

This is COUNT TASSILO ENDRODY (WALTER WOOLF), young, handsome, in love with life and adventure, but a sad spendthrift. His fortune is dissipated — his ancestral home is sacrificed to meet the demands of his creditors; and to insure the marriage dowry of his sister, LISA, he becomes under assumed name the overseer of the estate of COUNTESS MARITZA, for whose good name he once fought a duel without revealing his identity to her. Of course, between you and me, he's very much in love with the Countess.

This is COUNTESS MARITZA (BERTA GOLDY), BARTERED. She is young, pretty, rich, and ready for real love, but has become obsessed with the idea that every man who sees her dances her rather than herself. She sees in her new overcoat a man who could love her not for their appearance alone, but for the Countess' evening acceptance of the love of a gypsy girl.

And now comes SISTER MARJORIE PETERSON, a very sprite of a girl, full of fun, laughing and dancing her way into the hearts of all men who see her. She does not know the sacrifice TAS-SI-LO made and when she sees him in the menial role of an overcoat, she is shocked. Is he a gay masquerade to win the COUNTESS MARITZA? Oh, No—never—ever—ever! But, at the moment when COUNTESS MARITZA, broken-hearted in the belief that TAS-SI-LO is just another fortune-hunter, turns to him, LISI, to tell him the truth. Then love has its way, mad passion and crazy love fade, and the doctor and the impulsive TAS-SI-LO know that FATE has made them one for the other!

NEW INSURANCE POLICIES SEEN AS AID TO AVIATION

A. C. Persuades 28 Firms to Protect Flyers.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A highly important—if not the most important—development in commercial aviation of the nation, insurance, will shortly be formally announced by George B. Foster, chairman of the aviation committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

He has succeeded upon nearly thirty accident and life insurance companies to see the decreasing risk in commercial aviation to such an extent that they will issue policies protecting passengers and pilots. Figures and information compiled by Mr. Foster and the secretary of his committee, Alfred R. Bone Jr., have caused the insurance fraternity to accept "the safety of the air on commercial lines" as compared with other methods of travel.

The comparison places organized aviation in a more favorable light with the result that 28 insurance companies—the list is growing daily—have decided to take up the task of riding on a regular air transport line (incorporated passenger carrier) operated on a regular schedule between established airports in licensed aircraft in charge of licensed pilots."

List of Companies.

The association's list yesterday of such companies is as follows:

- Auto-Canada and Surety company.
- Columbus Casualty company.
- Connecticut General Life Insurance company.

Travelers' Insurance company.
United States Fidelity and Guaranty company.

These companies will pay the face of the policy to passengers holding insurance. While there are shades of difference in the views of the companies the general trend on the neutrality is indicated by the following statement of Travelers, one of the pioneers in this class of insurance to the association of commerce:

"The Travelers' has been writing accident insurance for passengers on airplanes for some time. It issues such insurance both through tickets that are sold at aviation fields and under regular accident insurance policies that cover against all forms of accidents. Tickets providing $5,000 benefits in cases of accident while taking an air plane trip designated on the ticket cost 25¢ each. These are issued only where the planes are of a tested and approved design, are kept in good condition and are piloted by capable drivers.

Extra Coverage Included.

"Certain of our leading forms of annual accident policies provide benefits for people taking trips as passengers on regularly licensed planes provided by incorporated passenger carriers and established air courses between established air ports. No claim additional to the regular premium made for this extension of the accident policy coverage. Persons riding in private planes can have policies extended by endorsement to include aviation accidents at an extra premium rate, depending upon the hazard and the form of coverage purchased."

The Travelers' will issue any form of life insurance to persons engaged in aviation, limiting the amount to $10,000 and charging an extra rate of $25 to $40 per $1,000, depending upon the hazards. Such policies do not carry the disability or double indemnity clause and are not issued to stunt and exhibition flyers or others engaged in unusually hazardous aviation.

"To the man who contemplates business trips over regularly established air routes in planes operated by regularly licensed pilots, The Travelers' makes no extra charge and imposes no unusual restrictions as to the amount of insurance."

Change in Seven Years.

This progress is looked upon by the Chicago Association of Commerce as remarkable. About 1926 the National Aircraft Underwriters association was formed by companies actively writing aviation insurance interested in its development. Late in 1928 the joint committee on civil aviation of the U. S. Department of commerce and the American Engineering committee indicated that this subject of insurance had been frequently said that one hindrance to air transportation in the United States was the status of "aviation insurance. On the Underwriters' association, this committee reported [page 168]: "The associated companies met with large losses and have almost entirely discontinued writing aircraft insurance."

The change in attitude has come in the last two years with the progress made in increasing the safety of commercial aviation.

Limit to City's Hope.

Aviation insurance is involved in Chicago's often repeated boast to become the chief air port of the nation, but the lack of energetic activity by the logical public officials on commercial aviation will have its reflection in aviation insurance and the possible limitation of Chicago as the air center of the country. It is pointed out that an illustration is given: If the accident insurance companies decline, except at prohibitive rates, to insure air passengers between Chicago and Atlanta, Ga., there will be little air travel between the two cities. But if the accident companies give a reasonable rate between Chicago and New York over an established air lane and then over a private air line built between New York and Atlanta, that will aid New York and hinder Chicago in becoming the chief air port of the United States in the near future years.

BY CHARLES DAILEY,

Peking, Nov. 15.—The utter hopelessness of Chiang's political and economic situation has revived the idea of foreign intervention, this time from nonpartisan Chinese, who believe the dan of chaos if the present condition continues. Japan, it is reported, is trying to intervene, provided some of nation, possibly Great Britain, join with it.

The situation important centers like Shanghai, Tientsin, Peking, Hangchow, and Canton is ever increasing taxes and official corruption, fast is bringing in traders and the masses to a point where violent uprisings will be impossible to prevent unless constructive steps are taken.

Girl Dies of Burns Received in Attempt to Rescue Dog

Catherine Sulk, 11 years old, died at the county hospital yesterday of burns suffered during a fire at her home, 33 South Aberdeen street, on Nov. 4. The girl and her mother were injured when they attempted to rescue a pet dog.

At present the R. O. T. C. units are under the command of the generals of the various army corps areas. The members of the association, composed of university presidents, indicated that they had no complaint to make of the general, but that they felt a "civilian would be better able to get the viewpoint of the colleges and the students and maintain relations better."

During the day three students at Northwestern University, in a letter published in the Daily Northwestern, again reopened the question of pacifism at Northwestern university.

In their communication with the campus organ the three men, all seniors, demanded that the R. O. T. C. unit prove its right to existence. They asserted that some one should show that military training builds men physically or mentally and that it does not breed international hatred.

stated. "We look forward to an organization that will demand the departure of the R. O. T. C. from the campus."

The signers, Eugene B. Vest, Robert S. Ream, and Joseph L. Norris, asserted that they represented the views of a large number of students, particularly those in the Garrett Biblical Institute.

But Harold Grant, president of the Northwestern fraternity, Soubhard and Blaide, asserted that the trio were merely seeking notoriety and that there was no pacifist movement on the campus except in their imaginations.

Leviand (Tiny) Lewis and Victor Gustafson, football stars, also declared that the vast majority of students were in favor of retaining the unit.

FAHERTY TO SEE SUBWAY PLANS AS LINERDOCKS

Aldermen Leave Today on Harmony Mission.

Leaving for New York at noon today, a delegation of 18 Chicago aldermen will be on hand to confer with Michael J. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements, immediately after he arrives from Europe on the liner Berengaria Friday morning. The aldermen are convinced from Mr. Faherty's statements while inspecting subways abroad that he intends to start action on a State street tube as soon as he returns, and they wish to "have an understanding" with him before he makes any announcements. The understanding, it was said, will be as to the specific powers of the council and improvements board as far as the specifications.

McDonough to Head Junct.

AM. Joseph B. McDonoug [13th] will head the delegation, accompanied by Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th], Ald. W. Nelson [48th], John Roman [28th], James R. Bowler [25th] Assistant Corporation Counsel Jake W. Even, and Maj. R. F. Kelker, engineer for the council transportation committee.

Maj. Kelker will carry within a copy of his plans for the State street tunnel, as made public Monday which will be laid before Mr. Faherty these plans, calling for a subway or elevated trains under State street from North avenue to 16th street, he believed, will be accepted by Mr. Faherty as a basis for the final blueprint.

"We want to sit down with Mr. Faherty, go over the plans and come back with a united, harmonious program," explained Ald. Bowler. "If we are to have a subway the council and Mr. Faherty must get together, and I am sure we will."

Another Purpose in Trip?

Despite the declaration of Ald. Bowler and others making the joke, going to the city hall yesterday was that the purpose of the trip is deeper than a mere desire for a subway west with Mr. Faherty. Some ob-ers saw in it the prospect of an open break between the aldermen and the improvements board head that may necessitate intercession by Mayor Thompson.

There is reported to be a strong undercurrent of feeling among members of the council that the impetuous Mr. Faherty, armed with authority to originate and prepare local improvement ordinances, may take the reins in his hands and dig the subway, leaving the aldermen with no share of the credit. Should he do so, the council, under the law, could only accept or reject the ordinance, but could not amend it.

"When the pie is cut the aldermen don't intend to let Mr. Faherty and his contractors do all the eating," one observer said.

The aldermanic delegation, it was hinted, may propose to Mr. Faherty a compromise plan for the formation of an independent subway commission to manage the State street project, to be composed of himself, several aldermen, engineers and attorneys. Thus, it was pointed out, the authority would be divided.

After their conference in New York, Mr. Faherty's party and the aldermen will return to Chicago together, probably Saturday or Sunday. A joint report is expected to be made at a meeting of the council transportation committee called for next Tuesday morning.

NEW 5-11 ALARM SYSTEM READY FOR LOOP TODAY

A new system of fire alarms, including a 5-11 alarm, will go into effect in the downtown district at 4 a. m. today. Fire Chief Michael J. Corrigan announced last night. Later the new system will be adopted all over the city.

Under the present management the alarms range from 2-11 to 4-11 and successive special alarms, depending upon the size and potential danger of the blaze. Special alarms will be sounded hereafter only in the case of extremely large fires, the 5-11 alarm being used instead.

Installation of the new system, Chief Corrigan said, will permit more rapid and efficient shuffling of engines over the city in emergency cases. It is adapted after the plan in vogue in New York, he said.

RUSSIA'S 'MAN OF STEEL' TELLS RED POLICY ON DEBTS

Deals on Basis of "Don't Give; Don't Get."

Copyright 1927 by the New York Times
MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—Stalin—the "Soviet sphinx" or "new Soviet emperor," as he has been termed abroad, or the "Asiatic" as the western-trained oppositionists have dared to whisper—revealed more of himself today than in the long years since Lenin died.

Stalin is the man of steel, born at Dzhugashvili of the bold, yet subtle Georgian race, who remained "under ground" in Russia when the rest of his fellow Bolsheviks lived in Europe or were exiled to Siberia. Stalin is he who, despite terrible imprisonment and dozen times escaped, who a dozen times changed his name, and a dozen times proved faithful. Stalin is he whom Lenin called overhast, yet whom he trusted beyond others.

Power Surpasses Care's.

Stalin is he whose power surpasses Peter the Great, yet who is no more simple than the American workman.

In today's Pravda Stalin appears in the dual role of judge and witness. The judge, because, as general secretary of the Communist party, he has the voice of the Communist party's condemnation of the opposition; a witness because he explains the various points in the Soviet administration to foreign delegates.

It is true Stalin's name here appears in the verdict against the opposition. But the people throughout him as secretary, and the verdict of the party is the party's verdict. Personally, however, Stalin, despite his "harshest," tried to the last moment to avoid what really is the "self-expulsion" of his old comrades. In his answers to the foreign delegates there is the silken glove of casuistry here and there, but the steel hand of Leninist realism is apparent, nevertheless.

Explains "Oil War."

They asked about oil. Stalin replied the chief reason for hostility of the foreign oil interests is that the Soviet oil syndicate is selling it cheaper—not because Russia is richer, but because the Soviet oil industry does not need the colossal super-profits demanded by the oil companies.

He consented to explain the fact that oil products inside Russia are nearly twice as dear as in America.

In regard to the state liquor monopoly Stalin said, frankly:

"We needed money and could not get it outside Russia. So the members of the central committee, including myself, went to Lenin, who recognized it was the only way at the time to procure funds. Anyway, the peasants are making their own home brew. And now the monopoly provides a half billion roubles annually. We do not approve of it and wish to abandon it as soon as possible, but I maintain its reintroduction is better than sacrificing Soviet interests to foreign capitalists."

"Don't Give and You Don't Get."

Stalin is equally categorical on foreign debts.

In regard to France we proceeded on the well known principle of "Tu donnes et je donne," he said. "Give credits and you will get something from us on account of pre-war debts. Don't give and you don't get."

Then with characteristic abruptness:

"Does the French government recognize the pre-war debts? Certainly not. It means simply that we are, though enforcing the decree, annulling the pre-war debts, are willing to pay part of them to obtain the credits needed by us and useful to French industry. We regard our payments as a supplementary percentage on credits and that is all."

Claims Offset for War Debts.

Does not this mark the difference between Soviet mentality and the well meaning American visitors who suggest that Russia send a debt funding commission to the United States to "establish confidence" without requiring preliminary promises quid pro quo.

The war debts Stalin quite refused to consider on the grounds they were more than offset by damages by foreign intervention.

"The OGPU or Cheka," said Stalin in reply to a question of the French delegates. "Is a punitive organ of the Soviet power and resembles the French revolution committee of public safety. It represents something like the military political tribunal constituted to protect the revolution from the assaults of the counter revolutionary bourgeoisie and its agents."

"The bourgeoisie naturally hates the OGPU, and I quite understand why bourgeois visitors ask whether it still exists and whether the time has not come for its liquidation. But I decline to understand some of the workers' delegations who come to the Soviet Union, asking timidly if many of the counter revolutionaries are punished by the OGPU and if it is time to end the existence of the OGPU."

"Comrades, we do not wish to repeat the errors of the Paris communards which caused its members only to be slaughtered in tens of thousands by the army of Versailles. We are surrounded by capitalist enemies and know there are friends of capitalism among us. We won't repeat the Paris error—the OGPU will remain with us to terrify the enemies of proletarian."

Denies Death of Trotsky.

MOSCOW, Russia, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Soviet authorities declared today that the report published by various newspapers abroad that Leon Trotsky had been assassinated was untrue.

Publication of the official decree dealing with the opposition shows only Trotsky and Gregory Zinovieff were exiled to the right from the Communist party, while lesser luminaries suffered the loss of various posts.

The resolution of the presidium removes Leon Kameneff, Christian Rakovsky, M. Smigla, M. Evdokimoff, and M. Avdeeff from the central communist committee, while Muraloff, Bafeke, Shklovsky, Peterson, Soloviev, and Lissin from the central control commission with the warning that anti-central communist activities will result in their expulsion from the party itself.

German Reds Also Split.

[UPI—Tribune Photo Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—As a result of the split in the Russian Communist party climaxed by the expulsion of Leon Trotsky, the German Communist party has been split into three parts.

When the Reichstag meets Nov. 22 it is believed that the three groups, the membership of which heretofore has cooperated, will fall wide apart, and at the next elections three official Communist parties with different names will take the field.

The split is so great that the main group, which is faithful to Moscow demands that the Russian revolution take the course of the French revolution and begin shooting or hanging rebel leaders. They ask that M. Trotzky meet the same fate as Robespierre.

The three parties formed from the old Communist party call themselves the Original Communist party, the Radical Communist party, and the Communist Labor party. The old party has forty-five members in the Reichstag. The Trotsky, or opposition, party now has fifteen pledged members.

Re: Competition in 1928

Every sales force will need the backing of an aggressive, well-equipped office administration!

"COULDN'T get that order . . . our prices are too high!" Sounds like a salesman's alibi, but maybe it states the case. Competition is keen today. It will be just as keen in 1928. Inflated prices will be out of line. Now is a mighty good time to give thought to operating efficiency and operating expense.

At the NATIONAL BUSINESS SHOW this week, you will find fully displayed and explained, scores of tested and proven methods that speed up the day's work, cut down expenses and reduce errors. Here you may see and examine the equipment and the systems used by leaders in every line of business who obtain the speediest and most effective results at the lowest overhead cost.

Only by traveling thousands of miles, visiting hundreds of factories and conferring with scores of specialists, could you obtain the same "picture" of modern office administration that is graphically portrayed at this great Show. If you are engaged in business, don't miss the NATIONAL BUSINESS SHOW. Pass the word on to your business associates and display this notice on your office bulletin board.

EXPAND SEARCH FOR SLAYER IN 'L' ELECTION ROW

POLICE HOLD CANDIDATE AFTER ATTACK ON BROTHERS

The police yesterday sent bulletins to all cities within 300 miles of Chicago asking for the arrest of Timothy O'Connor, 22 East 60th street, for the killing of Martin Burns and the wounding of Charles Burns in a row over a union election at 121 East 61st street.

The members of division 363 (employees of the Street and North Railway Employees Union) held their annual election of officers yesterday and Charles Burns was a candidate for reelection to the union's executive board. Martin Burns, who was an employee of the "L" lined up with the other Burns three times during the election.

Quarrel Over Vote.
Witnesses told the police that O'Connor, a former member of the union, staggered Charles Burns with "one blow" when the latter objected to a ninth site member of the union casting his ballot at the 61st street polling place. Martin Burns ran to his brother's aid and fired another shot, which struck Charles Burns in the arm. Martin died instantly and Charles was taken to the Washington Park hospital.

O'Connor escaped in an automobile and police believe he fled the city. John Fitzgerald, 446 West 44th street, a candidate against Charles Burns, was taken into custody when the police were told that Fitzgerald had accompanied O'Connor to the polling place.

Complaints Name Two.
Complaints charging O'Connor with murder and John Fitzgerald with being an accessory were signed by the Weddowa section by Patrick Burns, 1015 South Campbell avenue, a second brother of the slain man. Martin Burns lived at 3945 and Charles at 3951 South Campbell avenue.

FORDS ARE SUED FOR SIX MILLION IN LINCOLN DEAL

Stockholders Hold Agreement Broken.

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 15.—(P)—Nearly two thousand stockholders of the old Lincoln Motor company are plaintiffs in a suit in chancery against Henry and Edsel Ford, involving approximately $6,000,000, filed in Circuit court here today.

The suit, brought by Harry M. Leland and his son, Wilfred C. Leland, former president and vice president respectively of the Lincoln Motor company, in behalf of stockholders, seeks reimbursement for losses alleged to have been suffered at the time Henry Ford purchased the Lincoln properties in 1923 at a receiver's sale for $3,000,000.

Charge Breach.
The bill of complaint charges that Mr. Ford failed to keep a verbal agreement to buy the outstanding stock of the active stockholders. This outstanding stock, according to the complaint, aggregated about $6,000,000 in value.

The bill charges that after the new company had been established and met with "extraordinary success," with the Lelands in charge of operations, the Fords "took the same from the direction and control of the Lelands" and have since "controlled and controlled it themselves."

"They came into possession of a going concern, the fair value of which was upward of $25,000,000," the complaint alleged.

Want Stock or Cash.
The Lelands accuse Henry Ford of having "permitted it to be announced in various newspapers and magazines that he had voluntarily and as a matter of generosity paid the creditors in full." The plaintiffs state that filing of the suit was deferred because they believed it was the intention of the Fords to pay the stockholders, agreed, and upon so doing, consent to pretend "that said payment was an act of benevolence and generosity, and not pursuant to their agreement."

The bill winds up with a petition asking that the defendants be required to transfer the stock of the company to the plaintiffs, as the respective interests of the plaintiffs may appear in proportion to their several investments, or that the stock may be sold.

YARROW ACCUSES POLICE OF PLOT IN ARREST OF AID

It was charged yesterday by the Rev. Phillip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, that police officials who are in league with organized vice deliberately staged a conspiracy against A. F. Bond, chief organizer for the vigilance association. Bond was arrested Saturday night, it became known on Monday, on a charge that he had been trading in the nude before a window in his apartment at 4000 Sheridan road.

While Mr. Yarrow affirmed his belief in his investigator's innocence, Chief of Police Michael Hughes launched a new attack on professional reformers.

"I will have nothing to do with these unscrupulous reformers who are in their racket only to bleed citizens of money," declared Chief Hughes. "This Bond case is only an example of the type of men in that business."

"Today I was visited by Mrs. William Harrison Cade, chairman of the law enforcement committee of the Chicago Federation of Women's Clubs, who agreed with me that vice conditions have never been better in Chicago and who pledged the police department her full support."

Dr. Yarrow declared that Bond was hated by vice lords, and by the police, for his ceaseless energy in exposing disorderly resorts. Hundreds of persons would have a motive in framing

STUTZ DEFEATS SUIT CHARGING HE STOLE WIFE OF CAFE MAN

SILAS H. STRAWN SAYS U. S. NEEDS BETTER LAWYERS

Need of higher requirements for admission to the bar was stressed yesterday by Silas H. Strawn, president of the American Bar association, addressing a Rotary club luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. He pointed out that in most states a man may hang up his shingle as a lawyer with less training than is required by labor unions of their craftsmen.

The suit was based on the charge that Stutz had alienated the affections of Miller's wife.

The Millers were divorced in March, 1924, and Stutz married Mrs. Miller a few months later. Miller declared that the former automobile manufacturer started paying attention to his wife in 1922, which eventually resulted in his divorce. Mrs. Stutz testified her former husband had killed her love for him by his profanity and inability to support her.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutz live in Orlando, Fla.

up a fake case against the investigator, Dr. Yarrow declared.

Bond has been doing investigating work for six years in Chicago, and not a breath of suspicion has attached to him, the superintendent said.

Police yesterday made public an affidavit signed by a young woman arrested after Bond had obtained evidence against her. She charged that Bond made indecent suggestions to her before the raid. Bond yesterday asserted the girl solicited him, and after he had learned her address, he got a policeman and raided the flat.

Communists Rest Under Royal Arms of King John

NEWBURY, England, Nov. 15.—(UPI)

The army of communist miners marching to London to call the attention of parliament to the distress of the unemployed rested tonight under the royal arms of King John. When the men plodded tonight into this old town, where King John granted the magna charter of English liberty in 1215, they found rest in buildings that are a part of almshouses called King John's court.

How many COLDS will you catch this winter?

This Underwear Removes the Main Cause

Light-Weight Two-Layer Fabric, Wool
in Outer Layer, Cotton Inner Layer,
Air Space Between....No Wool Itch

WHEN the body chills, its resistance is lowered—that's when cold germs get to work...And chills are caused by cold air reaching the warm, moist skin.

You may not be conscious of body moisture, but it is always present. In the same way you may not be conscious of a slight chill, until you are down with a heavy cold.

One-layer underwear can't keep this cold air away from the skin. Even heavy wool underwear only increases the body moisture—making you all the more liable to chills.

Duofofold Health Underwear does protect you. Its light weight fabric is made of two thin layers, with air space between. The inner layer, that first absorbs body moisture, is made of soft cotton, and is protected by the outer layer which contains wool.

Cold is kept away from the moist skin and the body is maintained at an even temperature—indoors, outdoors, in all weather. And you get this protection without any wool itch as the wool can't touch the skin.

Duofofold assures warmth outdoors, comfort indoors, and health protection at all times. So wear Duofofold from fall to spring—and put it on your children, right down to the baby.

Made in a variety of fabric combinations and styles at reasonable prices. Sold by leading department, dry goods and men's furnishing stores

First Make
Maximum Use of the Most Profitable Sales Medium

SHREWD merchants fix the value of advertising by the customers it brings—not by "one time" purchasers. The more customers produced, the more profitable the advertising.

When it comes to reaching prospective customers, no Chicago medium can compare with the Daily and Sunday Tribune. Six days a week, The Tribune sends 624,938 copies into Chicago and suburbs—reaches 64% of the families. On Sundays its city and suburban circulation is 757,454—enough to reach 74% of the families. No other Chicago paper comes near these figures.

That fact suggests a question for you.

You have your place of business and your fixed charges. Also you have your choice of advertising mediums.

But you can reach through The Tribune practically all the buying power among people who respond to advertising of Chicago and spread fixed costs over the maximum number of customers—with resulting ability to make a larger profit.

SLAIN JUNKMAN'S SON CAPTURED AS BANDIT GANGSTER

Braverman, Girl, 2 Others Caught After Holdup.

Louis Braverman, 23 year old son of the junk peddler for whose murder Harry J. [Larry] Lewis is now on trial with two other men and a woman, was arrested as a drug store bandit yesterday after a battle with police. A report from Alderman James Bowe of the Twenty-fifth ward, who witnessed one of their five holdups, led to the apprehension of the quartet in the Sacramento hotel, 2001 West Jackson boulevard.

A taxicab drove up to Roosevelt road and Clifton Park avenue where three youths alighted and entered a Walgreen drug store while a girl waited in a cab at the curb. Miss Ida Gingold of 2117 Clifton Park avenue, the cashier, was approached by the trio brandishing guns. They ordered her to open the safe, but when she protested that she did not know the combination the men turned their attention to Michael Glickman, the manager.

Manager Is Threatened.

"Open that crib, buddy, or we'll blow a hole in your head," one of them threatened.

Glickman complied while three employees and three customers were held into an anteroom by the other bandits and locked in. The robbers then took $327, reinforced the taxicab with the number of the cab. Through the cab driver the four were traced to the hotel. Meyer Gordon and Braverman tried to escape when police entered their room but were caught and overpowered after a tussle. In the room police found two narcotic needles, a pistol and money sacks bearing the Walgreen label.

Braverman and other accomplices gave the names of Philip Schein, 17 years old. The girl gave the name of Elsie Sehein and said she was the youthful bandit's wife.

Get $31,150 in Five Holdups.

A day of intense bandit activity was eliminated by the arrests. In that interval five successive holdups were perpetrated with a total loot of $31,150 obtained by the various bands.

According to the police, Braverman has not been using proceeds of his robberies, five of which he is said to have confessed, to help out his estranged mother and family. Instead he is the reputed head of a gang of eight west side hoodlums. Three of them are in Detroit, it is said, and efforts are being made to round up the others.

Braverman has not lived at home for months, police asserted.

Safe looter that entered the Coyne Electrical school, 500 South Paulina street, obtained $3,000 after covering Joseph McIntyre, the watchman, with guns and forcing him to remain in a vault. Two safes were opened by the hand of six men using crowbars.

Empty coffee bags were tied around the head of Christ Linder, a tailor, and his wife by two men who held up his shop at 5841 Irving and took $600 worth of suits and overcoats.

This pair had previously stolen a truck loaded with 100 five pound sacks of coffee from 4425 Pensacola avenue and dumped out the contents.

Another daylight holdup was staged in the center of the Forest Park business district, where three armed men slugged Sam Koenigsberg, proprietor of the Style Shop at 750 Madison street. The trio then proceeded to burn almost his entire stock in a truck at the curb which had been stolen from Andrew Melka, 3736 North Mayville avenue. Koenigsberg estimated his loss at $4,000 in women's dresses.

Benjamin Lenenthal, 1516 South Central Park avenue, head of the Roosevelt Cartage company, was kidnapped by five armed men yesterday after they forced him to stop his truck at Roosevelt road and Des Plaines street.

The robbers emptied his truck of clothes valued at $1,000, then drove to Elmwood Park, where they put out Lenenthal, whom they had forced to accompany them.

U. OF C. IS ONE OF THREE BEST, MASON DECLARES

Lists Midway, Harvard,
Columbia as Leaders.

Three universities in America stand head and shoulders above the rest because of their productive scholarship. President Max Mason of the University of Chicago told 1,500 undergraduates at a general assembly yesterday. He named the University of Chicago, Harvard, and Columbia as the trio, and asserted that most everybody regarded the University of Chicago in the west and Harvard in the east as the real leaders.

"The realm of creative scholarship is very important at the University of Chicago," President Mason said. "Today our scholars in connection with those of other institutions are laying the foundations for a more wholesome manner of thinking. Ours is a great research institution. It has a great graduate school. I firmly believe, a great undergraduate college, and it is our desire and our will that we make this college even greater with your support, with your mental attitude toward intellectual life."

Education Up to Standard.

"Nobody can educate us but you yourself. You bring us the enthusiasm and freedom of youth. We can add the experience of age."

The president asserted that he was of the opinion that the university officials have been wrong in carrying into college work the policing methods and assumptions of secondary schools.

"I think most of us assume that students come to college for a serious purpose," said the president. "I think that if we assume that they don't, we are educationally off on the wrong foot and we will never have your confidence and interest. If we try to cram knowledge down your throats, of course, you will resist.

Cooperative System.

"My appeal is to have you believe thoroughly that this cooperative system is to aid you in determining the character of your mental processes, to aid you to become a different person, not to force you."

"We urge upon you the joy and pleasure in learning things if you once get started in your own field. To most students in America, it is a new idea. My hope is that the University of Chicago will be a place where the undergraduate body quickly and rapidly becomes oriented to that thought."

6 NICARAGUANS SLAIN WHEN THEY ATTACK MARINES

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Six rebels were killed and seven wounded when they made two attacks Sunday upon United States marine corps patrols near La Cruz in the department of Nueva Segovia, according to reports received here today. There were no marine casualties. The rebel general, Sandino, is reported to have sent out distress calls for more men as the marines are gradually dispersing and surrounding the rebel forces.

EDW. H. WRIGHT CONSIDERS RACE AGAINST MADDEN

Edward H. Wright, colored member of the Illinois commerce commission, last night clarified reports concerning his possible candidacy for congressman in the first district to oppose the reelection of Congressman Martin B. Madden, who has served the district for 22 years.

"Many friends of mine have sought to induce me to be a candidate," Wright said. "I told them I was not a candidate for any office, but that if a majority of the voters of the district indicated in some manner that they desired me to run, I would consider the matter."

Among the supporters of a Wright candidacy are the Chicago Progressive club, the Crispus Attucks league, and the American Negro Protective club. They are seeking pledge cards from voters.

For many years the district has been overwhelmingly a Negro district and Congressman Madden has been returned to his post without opposition chiefly through the influence of party leaders, who recognized his remarkable record in congress.

BRITON TWITS MAYOR FOR LACK OF FAITH IN U. S.

Nation Too Strong to Be Undermined.

Mrs. KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

With other Britons who have been him on the programs of the English Speaking Union since Mayor Frank Murphy brought his guns on English speaking platforms and who have avoided the campaign, J. Alfred Spender, former editor of the West End Gazette, commented at a luncheon of the club yesterday at a luncheon of the Palmer house.

"I am going to take the plunge at the risk of giving you offense," he said, "and say at once that in one word, at least, Chicago strikes me as a very singular place. After traveling many miles in your country and meeting all sorts of men and women, I find here for the first time that there is a pander about America."

A contrast in Cities.

"I have been to New York and Boston and robust, self-confident Americans welcomed all comers and bringing them into the fold. In Boston I saw some serious American spirit sure of itself and looking confidently to the future. While in Detroit American history once more seems to be pre-destined to bear the world."

When I come to the great and famous city of Chicago I find a man of renown proclaiming to the world that the American nation is in such delicate health and has so frail a constitution that it needs to be interned in a carefully guarded and sterilized enclosure, lest it should be infected by some germ brought across the ocean from the far away British Isles, or even, it may be, escaping from the hotbed of its own public libraries.

"That is an enormous compliment to the germs, of which I am one, but as a picture of Americans painted by an American artist, it seems to me to do them a very serious injustice. If it were true, it would make them a petty and jealous people, instead of the great and generous people the world knows them to be; it would make them a backward and medieval people, instead of the modern and progressive people that they are. Walks or life they have proved themselves to be.

Denies Perl of Enniscorthy.

"It is not true of America, nor of Chicago, that dissension is not going to be sown between our two countries this way."

"But an Englishman who comes to America realizes that it has a problem which is not presented in the same degree to any other nation—that of making a national whole out of the many races to which it has opened its doors. But there is one thing America ought not to do, and that is to encourage any of these races to transfer from the old world to the new the unhappy feuds and quarrels which have wrought so much misery in the countries from which they come."

As a means of promoting good will between the two countries, Mr. Spender mentioned the American effort toward a memorial theater to Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon, and enthusiastically commended the suggestion made in a Tribune editorial that a statue of John Paul Jones, American naval hero, be erected at Flamboro Head, in the north of England. The site overlooks the place where the Bon Homme Richard met the British ship Serapis and vanquished it after a desperate battle.

FIELD ARTILLERY IS CRITICIZED BY MAJ. GEN. SNOW

Says Branch Is Underorganized, Undermanned.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Assertion that the field artillery branch of the regular army is underorganized and undermanned, in comparison with the infantry and cavalry units, was made today by Maj. Gen. William J. Snow in his annual report to Secretary of War Davis. Gen. Snow recommended a substantial increase in personnel, stating that the present enlisted strength is now at the minimum at which field artillery units can be properly trained. He asked for an increase in the number of field artillery organizations.

In other sections of his report Gen. Snow complimented the ordnance department highly for its development of the 75 millimeter pack howitzer and appealed for an equalization of promotion between the reserve and regular army officers.

WILL Become Standard.

"The test of the 75 millimeter pack howitzer continues, and it probably will be adopted as standard," Gen. Snow said. "In preparing the new weapon, which depicts a light weight, has a range virtually equal to the French 75 of wartime fame." This weapon is a most remarkable development and represents an enormous advance over the old pack howitzer. The ordnance department is to be congratulated."

Gen. Snow spoke highly of the newly developed 105 millimeter howitzer. "It is confidently expected," he said, "that service tests will indicate the suitability of one of the two models of this weapon now being tested. The importance of a light howitzer in our divisional armament is very great and we have never had one before."

Cites Poor Housing.

Gen. Snow reported morale good in spite of the poor housing, the large amount of necessary fatigue duty, and other undesirable factors.

An appeal for assignment of more officers to the finance department of the army is made in his annual report by Maj. Gen. Kenzie W. Walker. The finance department head asserted it is now necessary to detach cavalry, infantry, and artillery officers from their work for assignment to his branch.

MILWAUKEE GIRL WITNESS MISSING; FEAR FOUL PLAY

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Occupied with their intensive search for the missing girl of 18 year old Lillian Gage, Milwaukee police today were confronted with the mysterious disappearance of another young girl who, it is believed, may have met with foul play.

The missing girl is Edith Ahlman, 16 year old North Division High school sophomore, who was to have been state's witness against Cecil Van Dorffy, Chicago shoe salesman, now being held in the county jail on charges of criminally attacking a girl and with robbery and attempted attack of another.

According to the girl's mother, Edith was visited on Saturday by Mrs. Van Dorffy, wife of the accused man, who conversed with her for about thirty minutes. The girl, according to her mother, refused to divulge what had passed between them. Mrs. Van Dorffy, questioned by police today, said she was desirous only of ascertaining how many times her husband had kept engagements with the girl by whom he is accused.

Edith was last seen yesterday morning when she left for school.

HAMILTON CLUB REPUBLICANS ASK CONVENTION PLAN

George A. Berry Jr., president of the Hamilton club, yesterday issued a call for a meeting of the club's Republican national convention committee, to be held at the club next Monday noon, at which will be discussed the situation concerning the committee's efforts toward staging the G. O. P. convention in Chicago.

An invitation was sent by William G. Edens, chairman of the committee, to Allen F. Moore of Monticello, Rep. national union committee, asking him to attend, and to inform the committee of its efforts for bringing the convention here. Admittedly the outlook is dim, it having been strongly indicated in New York on Monday by party leaders that San Francisco has practically been agreed upon for the meeting.

Major Thompson also has a committee bidding for the convention, headed by George Getz, and the Association of Commerce also named a committee, of which William R. Dawes is chairman.

Keeping a Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Shun any but a TRUE complexion soap used this way.

SIMPLE are the rules of those whose skin you admire. For they have probably learned the most important rule of a good complexion. Daily cleansing with a mild COMPLEXION soap, to keep skin clean, and pores free of accumulations. And, even more important, to shun any but a TRUE complexion soap—one made to foster lovely faces, to protect and beautify the skin.

To ignore this simple rule is to court danger—and a poor complexion. For present-day beauty culture calls for soap and water, regularly.

Largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap; touch their faces with no other. It is made of saponified oil. It is made for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

ITALIAN PRESS
BY SUPPRESSION

Communist Asked to Allow Only Subsidized Papers

BY DAVID DARAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 15.—Business in Poland has improved 100 percent since a foreign loan was obtained two months ago. The arrival of Charles Dewey of Chicago, the American administrator, who will control Poland's financial and administrative policy, was suggested to him by a long editorial published in Il Teatro, the ultra-Fascist Roman newspaper, as a fundamental principle for reorganization of the Italian press, which will be discussed by the Fascists at their meeting tomorrow.

Though tonight's editorial is unorthodox, it frequently foreshadowed government moves with which Tevere frequently agrees.

The Fascists would constitute a new variation of the "liberty of the press," if all the papers were subsidized by the government and derived support from it; they would not want to associate with their own interests, therefore the government would have to leave them entirely free.

Three Classes of Papers.

Tevere classifies the existing Italian papers as follows:

Publishers with large circulations, receive extensive political news and revenues from advertising and papers subsidized by banking and industrial enterprises, and those controlled by the Fascist government. The argument is that since the first classes, in order to be successful, must suit the wishes and whims of advertisers or financial supporters, the same principle could be applied to the press as a whole, with Mussolini government being the entrepreneur in the publishing business.

The Kind of "Free Press."

Tevere points out that newspapers controlled by the government could do what they please without fear of censure by purely private interests, unless this paper frankly advocates abolition of all papers except those fully subsidized by the government.

This would eliminate the present difficulty when privately owned papers print news identical to the government.

Under the plan advocated by Tevere only papers known to be dependable would be subsidized by the government.

remittances abroad without permission from the state bank, which demanded numerous documents proving that the imports did not touch German ports. These restrictions now have been removed and the turnover in the business of Poland shows big increases.

Imports Still Limited.

Importers, especially those handling American products, now are complaining of the limitation on imports which still is maintained by the government. They say that they can double their sales provided the necessary import permits could be obtained.

Since its attempt to stabilize the currency three years ago, Poland has been surrounded by an economic Chinese wall. The limiting of imports and remittances abroad, the charge to citizens of $500 a ploty ($50) for a passport good for two months abroad to transport business, and other extraordinary measures designed to keep the money within the country are being abolished because officials declare the new loan enables the government to change its policy of financial isolation.

The government promises to reduce the price of passports to 100 ploty ($10) in order to aid business men.

See Tariff War Liquidated.

Diplomatic circles also are pleased with the improvement of Poland's economic situation and the tariff war between Germany and Poland is expected to be liquidated. Observers who two years ago predicted such an outcome future pessimistically because of the widespread graft, inefficiency, and uncontrollable expenditures now are optimistic about the business possibilities. American imports into Poland are expected to take a big jump during the coming year.

MANDELL BATTERS MYERS IN 10 ROUNDS

CHICAGO WOULD
IMITATE IOWA
GRID REVIVAL

Plans Dire Things
for Badgers.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
It was definitely decided at the Midway last night that Wisconsin should be defeated in no uncertain fashion Saturday. The best the Maroons have done in the Badger series since 1924, with the 11 to 9 defeat of Wisconsin by the Iowa Hawkeyes last Saturday, has made it clear that this year affords a good opportunity for the tide to turn. Thus far Wisconsin's success or lack of it this season has been largely a matter of the sagacity and physical well-being of Toad Crofoot, Badger captain and magnate of the back field. What may be said of the Maroons in addition to Capt. Ken Rouse, though he is not a ball carrier.

Captain Meets Captain.

Both of the stars will be in the game Saturday, though both are pretty well fagged out from carrying on the burden for their respective teams. They have been reported as injured on several occasions, but the truth seems to be that both simply have been "burned out" by their fighting loyalty and spirit for the teams they lead. At Madison many say that Wisconsin probably wouldn't have won a game without Crofoot. On the Midway there are hundreds who argue that Champaign would have been beaten if Rouse could have been in such his best physical shape. So that's how the two captains to be seen at Stagg Field in the season's windup rank with their respective constituents.

After the practices yesterday—both of which were defensive—each of the teams reported regulars definitely out of the Saturday game. Coach Thistlethwaite said that Neil Hayes, one of his best backs, cannot play and the Maroon camp repeated previous statements that Bill O'Gorman is out for the year. It also was held doubtful that Harry Bluhm would be in shape to attempt any footballing.

Maroons Have Alibis.

Larry Housaker, Badger center, who hasn't been feeling so well returned to scrimmage at Madison yesterday. Capt. Crofoot attended the scrimmage performance but did not participate. As the end of the season approaches, the players of the University of Chicago campus seem to be in the 1927 campaign "hot" but not so good, but not so bad. Triumphs over Indiana, Purdue, and Pennsylvania are looked upon as velvet; on the summer books, while the impression prevails that the Maroons were officiated out of the Ohio game and lost the Michigan and Illinois games because of the absence of Rouse in the second half of the Michigan encounter and throughout the entire Illinois battle.

PURPLE RESPECTS IOWA

Northwestern's football team still believes that if all of its cripples are able to toss away their crutches and limp up Saturday the Purple will be beaten. Capt. Gus Gustafson, the gloomy Gruel, and Tiny Lewis, Holmer, Fisher, and Darr, are members of the senior squad at Northwestern. All of them, good football players but injuries have limited their usefulness this fall. Lewis managed to hobble around in the Indiana game and made good gains but Gustafson was unable to leave the bench. Coach Hanley's men, interviewed several weeks ago on their chances of holding down, would have laughed and called the question foolish. Indiana's victory and Iowa's defeat of Wisconsin have bolstered Northwestern's attitude. The Purple players admit that they'll have to present their full strength or the invaders may trample them even as they did Thistlethwaite's eleven. Hanley had his skinned through a long signal drill yesterday afternoon pending the arrival of the sophomore members of the team who were detained in classrooms taking the midsemester examinations.

The problem of working out the menu will be presented to the football class this afternoon.

BEGINS TODAY

The court encounter between Jack Kearns and his erstwhile manager, Capt. Kearns, is scheduled to open today in Newark, N. J., with Kearns having no signs of wavering from the claim that he has $232,323 coming from visitors' tallies.

Last night the federal district judge who is to try the case had not been seen, but the department of justice moved between William N. Runyan and Joseph Bodine. The litigation will be concluded before a jury.

9,000 Attend Pro Hockey
Opener in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—[Special.] The Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks battled 70 minutes to a 1 to 1 the first 9,000 fans in the National Hockey league opener tonight. Both teams, the home run hitter of the Yankees, looked on from a seat behind the Chicago bench.

During the greater part of the time the Bruins seemed to have the edge, and numerous torrid shots were hampered at Chuck Gardner, but the recruit from Winnipeg stood firm at the net. He pulled off one spectacular save after another, and the best of the combinations of the American champions failed to draw him out of position or to shake his inspired coolness.

Hawks Score First.

Lionel Hitchman, defense star for the Bruins, did not play all of the third and Mickey MacKay and Dick Irvin of the Chicago forward line were quick to capitalize on the shortage in the Boston ranks. Mickey came down the right lane and passed to Dick at the defense.

The Gray Eagle of the Hawk forward line made two passes, pulled Winkler to the left side of the net, and beat him with a love drive to the right side for the Hawks' lone score.

Aubrey Clapper, recruit from the Boston Tigers of the Canadian-American league club, set the score for the Bruins in the second period and Irvin scored a goal in the third.

Again the Hawks' offense was quick to capitalize on the shortage in the Boston ranks. Mickey came down the right lane and passed to Dick at the defense.

Sisters Bid for Horse Show Honors with a Prairie Pony

BY FRENCH LANE.

Aviator—his daddy a broncho and I can shovings as a candidate for the his mother a mustang—may feel a bit out of place when he steps into the famous tan bark arena of the Chicago Riding club's horse show beginning Nov. 22, to strive for the hunter and jumping championships.

He will be in the presence of and compete against the equine blue bloods of America, those who are winning American and national championships in these classes for a good many years. And Chicago's millionaires horse lovers, the women in their gorgeous gowns, the men in their high silk topplers, will watch this humble member of the horsemanship family strive for a championship against their high priced aristocrats.

$36,000 in Prizes Offered.

The members of the horse show committee—several of Chicago's millionaires and society leaders compose this body—were making final plans for the show which offers $36,000 in prizes, when Aviator rolled up to the exclusive equine edifice at Ontario street and McClurg court yesterday afternoon aboard a trailer which was attached to a flatbed trailer looking flivver.

It was the end of a 950 mile journey which brought Aviator from the prairies of Nebraska to the Chicago Horse show. He had made the trip in the trailer attached to the flivver.

Two girls with high courage, high hopes and they say with a high and graceful jumping horse, brought him here to seek not only the championships but some of the cash prizes. And when the horse show committee recovered from its shock—the first look at Aviator heard the stories of these comely sisters, Lois and Eleanor Getzendaner of Champion, Neb., population 100—Aviator's name was enrolled alongside of those blue bloods of Amer-

Issue of three or four years the Cleveland club's home probably will be transferred to the municipal stadium to be built on Cleveland's lake front. The new owners hope to open there under a long lease. The present park is unsatisfactory because of its capacity and limited playing field.

An advisory council, composed of Barnard, President Heyder of the National League, and Commissioner Landis completed its session yesterday on suggested amendments to the administrative code.

One of the items taken up yesterday was a proposal that, because of the usually of skilled players, a club shall not be permitted to have more than forty players under its control at one time.

Duck Hunting Reaches Peak at Round Pond

By BOB BECKER.

Chicago Tribune Photo Service.]

Upper Illinois River, Nov. 15.—

Flocks of mallards and pintails ranging in size from a small half dozen to 300 or 400 birds are down here on the prairie ponds, and to sit in a blind with a bunch of decoys out in front is anything but a dull show.

Duck shooting has nearly reached in peak as far as this section of the country is concerned. There are thousands of birds on hand—fat, small, green headed mallards,

downy over-weight black mallards, which sit up like a ton brick, exceptional pintails, and now and then a few gadwall and green winged teal.

The entire lineup is here, and the men seem to know the signals, as the and rush the ends with lightning speed, while the full back mallards crash the line, and, in spite of our carelessness, sometimes manage to get away to big gains.

It was after 1 o'clock when Frank drove us across the prairie to meet him, our shooting partners for the day. Even as we drove up to land good we could see a single mallard hovering over Bolen's decoys, and then a pair joining the merry go round, all showing a desire to light. The single dropped low on an angle, whirled around. Then we saw the bird flare.

Mr. Mallard didn't climb high. Our second elapsed and then we saw it crumple. Bolen had nailed it.

A few minutes we had loaded our shot, coal, water bottle, and gun into the duck boat blind. Even as we rounded down behind the bushes birds flew over the pond.

"Get ready," said Bolen. "The sky is about to begin at once." And, as enough, the festivities were about to start with a bang, as six birds were coming in to us.

Spears, Gopher Coach, Just 255 Pounds of Modesty

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Dr. C. W. Spears, the Gopher coach, will never be caught in the act of bumping over citizens so that he might be in the front row of a news reel. The jovial medic, whose fighting weight is a mere 255 pounds, is not that kind of a fellow. At 255 pounds he rates as the biggest modest violet the world ever has known.

Although Spears is now serving his second year as coach of the Northlanders, who not so long since played Notre Dame to a standstill in a 7 to 7 tie, it is not generally known that he is not only one of the kid coaches—32 years—of the conference but in his day was quite an athlete in his own behalf. So now that it is still an important subject with the citizens of Kewanee, Ill., his home town and with the Green mountain boys at Dartmouth college.

Started Grid Career. 1908.

Spears started his athletic climb way back in 1908, when he offered his then 235 pounds to the football affairs of Kewanee High school. Schooling, let alone indulging in sports, was at that time no concern for him, as it was necessary to assist a widowed mother in the raising of a family that included other children. He labored at odd jobs when they were available during the school season and in the summer he took to the shops. Down around Kewanee he is still regarded as about the best athlete the school ever turned out and parents point him out to their offspring as an example of what a fellow can do starting from scratch if he perseveres.

With high school behind him and with a limited bank roll resulting from his industriousness, the future doctor hiked away to Dartmouth, from which he graduated in 1917. During those four years he developed into such a great guard on the Big Green eleven that Walter Camp selected him on the mythical all-American.

Following his graduation he took over the coaching of the freshmen for a year, then was promoted to direct the Dartmouth varsity, a job he held for three seasons. His next stop was the University of West Virginia, where he operated for four seasons. Last year the Gophers took him on. Meanwhile he had labored sufficiently at Rush Medical college here to attain his degree in medicine.

NOW DRY LAW PUTS INDUSTRY IN ALKY CHAINS

BY HARPER LEECH. Present voiced yesterday at the national convention of finance companies against the menace to business and property from the seizure of automobiles by prohibition agents is an ominous indication that the industries of this country cannot continue to flourish under a system by which they are taxed, slave, half dead, and dead. The present committee of the Finance Committee, as far as it goes, is not the only and most important attack on the conduct of American business, growing out of the present anti-liquor régime. Gen. C. will approach the public and authorities for a series of 4,000,000,000 dollars.

The other day a Chicago mirror manufacturer was compelled to ask for an injunction in order to obtain a supply of industrial alcohol, absolutely necessary to his business. The National Bank of Commerce of New York, in its November study analysis, the paramount importance of industrial alcohol in modern industry and technology. It is one of the indispensable raw materials of American industry today. The front rank position of Germany in chemistry in 1914 was due to the liberality of the German government with regard to industrial alcohol. Is the age of synthetic materials past? In which we are now moving, it will be all important. Says the big man: "Alcohol is necessary to any real development of the chemical industry."

In science, technology, and economics the contrary notwithstanding, our present governmental policy, under the direction of reactionary fanatics in Congress, is becoming restrictive to the point of damage in the matter of the production and distribution of industrial alcohol.

The national prohibition department is business by the throat. It has demanded an arbitrary reduction of production by 5,000,000 or 10,000,000 gallons per year.

Production last year was 25,000,000 gallons. The prohibition dictators have agreed to fit their guns as to the amount diverted for drink. Now, this amounts of budgeting business from a government office is the very essence of communism. It is that sort of thing which always has paralyzed governmental undertakings. The economic world laughs at the antics of the Bolsheviks who have endeavored to budget

SUBWAY TALK BRINGS RISE CITY & CONNECTING PFD.

Chicago stocks were more active and stronger yesterday. Auburn Automobile and Bendix each closed 2% higher. Auburn third quarter shipments with November estimated were given out by the company as 2,027, compared with 2,028 in the same period of last year.

Chicago City and Connecting preferred started into activity on announcement that subway plans for State street have been completed for the approval of the board of local improvements, and the net gain was 2 points on the day. Hupp Motors advanced 1% on rumors that the company may figure in a consolidation engineered by W. C. Durant. Another stock to burst into sudden strength and activity was Kellogg Switchboard and Supply, which was up 1%.

Middle West Utilities sold up a point on reports that the directors may increase the dividend on the common and the 7% per cent preferred. Stewart-Warner was a point higher and Swift International, Footh Bros. Gear, and Wanner Gear each advanced fractionally.

The down side was featured by Borg & Beck, which sold off a point on the good news announcement of a plan to declare a 20 per cent stock dividend having been made during the day. Sears-Roebuck also sold down a point, and Montgomery Ward declined 5% for small sales, profit taking brought a 5% point drop in Great Lakes Dredge and Fitzsimmons & Connell Dredge followed with a 3 point loss. Diamond Match was off 4 points, and Commonwealth Edison eased a point.

the miserable pygmies industries of Russia—but we are trying the same thing. I know of no abler demonstration of the fundamental fallacy of such things than the criticism on the nationalization of coal mining by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. "It is difficult to conceive," says Mr. Lewis, "how any such control through political agencies could function without putting straitjackets on the supply of industrial energy that would bring paralysis of initiative and enterprise in all other business lines."

"The quantity of coal needed for the factories and homes of America cannot be determined in advance, simply is not subject to exact forecast because it varies from day to day with the ebb and flow of business, not only in America but around the world."

EXPORT DEMAND BOOSTS WHEAT; PRESSURE LESS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets showed a much firmer undertone, and there was materially less pressure. Wheat was affected by a better demand from Europe and by somewhat less favorable crop reports from Argentina and gained 1¢ 61/8% for the day, with December 1¢ 38/8, 1.23¢ and March 1¢ 31 1/8%. Corn showed independent strength, and closed 1/8¢ higher, with December 55¢ @ 55¢ and March 55 1/8¢. Oats were 5 1/8¢ higher and 7 1/8¢ @ 7 1/4¢ higher.

The continent was an active buyer of cash wheat abroad, and also took 1,000+ bu or more Manitoba during the day, and the removal of hedges had considerably influence at Winnipeg, which was 16 1/4¢ higher. Minneapolis gained 14 1/4¢. Liverpool was influenced by the better cash demand, and the decline in wheat prices in Monday, and closed 4 1/8¢ higher, with December 56¢ @ 56 1/4¢ and March 56 1/8¢. Barley was 5 1/8¢ higher, based on the action of the Chicago market, and 5 1/8¢ higher, based on Winnipeg.

Claims Damage in Argentina.

George C. Bryant, the Jackson Bros. crop observer, who is now in Argentina, cabled from a point in northwestern Santa Fe that frost, rust, and extreme hot weather of late had caused damage in that section, and it led to considerable buying. Broombush demand there was not as strong as in Argentina, but inasmuch as Bryant is materially more familiar with that than is Broombush's agent, the latter's report was without effect.

General rains were reported in the southern sections of Argentina and the forecast was for showers in the north and center. Harvesting is on in the north and rain is not wanted, but it will be beneficial elsewhere. Buenos Aires wheat closed 5 1/8¢ lower and Rosario unchanged to 5 1/8¢ higher, with December in the latter market 1.25¢, or the same as at Chicago, and 2 1/4¢ over Buenos Aires.

There was buying of futures here against sales at Winnipeg by commission houses, and also good buying out right here by local operators.

More Interest in Corn.

Outside interest in corn broadened considerably, and with persistent and heavy buying headed by local professionals, prices have been steadily identified with the bear side for some time past, prices advanced rapidly, with some stop loss orders uncovered on the way up, and sellers of offers had to protect themselves. General local short covering was in evidence on the way up. In the last few days commission houses have been steady buyers of corn in small lots, and the market showed the effect of it. J. P. Griffin was out with less than two weeks of trading left for November open contracts remain at 32¢. Open interest is 1,000,000 bushels.

General run of husking returns received from the leading commercial producing states showed yields well below expectations, and buyers and sellers of futures were at the same time shifting demand. Cash prices were 5¢ higher as compared with the December. Rain or snow prevailed over the greater part of the belt, and the forecast was for a continuation of unfavorable weather.

Commission house and local buying influenced by the strength in corn, was largely instrumental in making a higher level for oats. A heavy export business has developed in barley, and stocks at Duluth have been well cleaned up.

Continental demand for wheat at the market showed considerable improvement with sales of 1,000,000 bu or over, practically all曼托瓦。 Winnipeg had a good business like quantity of barley. On Monday there was 60,000 to 70,000 bu sold and to reporters it is the rule at present to load grain in the rail cars first and last December loading. A little business was also done in mill-malts.

FOREIGN TRADE FOR OCTOBER IS BEST SINCE 1925

BY O. A. MATHER.

In contrast to rather restricted domestic trade, the United States foreign trade has been booming. Expansion in international commerce not only is taking up some of the slack at home, but it indicates improving economic conditions abroad.

United States October exports were valued at $400,000,000, the largest for any month since October, 1925, and, with the exception of that month, the largest since November, 1924. Last month's total marked a gain of nearly $35,000,000 over a year ago. On the other hand, United States imports last month were $235,000,000, a decline of more than $20,000,000 from a year ago. So America had a favorable balance of $144,000,000 last month, the largest for 12 months since November, 1924, and an increase of nearly $35,000,000 over October last year.

Farmer Shares Benefits.

The commerce department notes that one of the reasons for the high value of October exports was the higher price received for agricultural products.

This rebounded in the interest of American farmers and cotton growers, despite the fact that cotton exports were smaller than a year ago.

The large foreign loans floated in this country have enabled other countries to draw on our gold supply in spite of our large trade balance. Last month we sustained a net loss of $3,642,000 in the gold movement, whereas a year ago we made net gains of $7,701,000.

For the ten months this year United States merchandise exports totaled $3,988,455,000, an increase of $13,467,000 over the same period last year; while total imports were $3,059,000, a decrease of $18,467,000. Thus far this year we have a favorable trade balance of $935,370,000, compared with $143,446,000 in the same period last year.

House Trade, Less Active.

Domestic trade continues to be less active than last year, as evidenced by the railroad movement of commodities.

Loading of revenue freight for the month ended Nov. 5 totaled 1,051,853 cars, a decline of 73,769 cars from the preceding week, and also a decrease of 2,920 cars from a year ago. Compared with the preceding week, miscellaneous freight and less than carload freight showed increases; compared with a year ago, the former declined 9,309 cars, but the latter increased 1,763 cars. Coal, ore, and forest products showed the largest declines.

Last month news that came from the petroleum industry yesterday from the daily average gross production oil output last week totaled 5,469,000 barrels, an increase of 16,050 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Production in Oklahoma, where the Seminole field is located, increased 17,600 barrels a day.

Dividend News Favorable.

Dividend news was favorable. Directors of the Borg & Beck company called a stockholders' meeting for Dec 5 to increase the capital stock from $25,000 to $200,000 shares of $10 par value. The directors propose to declare a 20 per cent stock dividend, payable Jan. 2 to stockholders of record Jan. 1. The present dividend rate of $4 annually is expected to be continued.

Stockholders of the National Liberty Insurance company approved a plan to increase the capital stock from $10,000 shares of $50 par value and distribute $10,000 in cash dividends, payable Nov. 25 to stockholders of record Nov. 21. The directors will vote on Nov. 25 on changing the par value from $50 to $10 and exchanging five new shares for each old share.

Some Extra Dividends.

Extra dividends were declared as follows: Household Products, 50 cents a share, same as a year ago; Margenthaler Linotype, 25 cents; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 12½ cents; Curtis corporation, 25 cents. The directors will vote on Nov. 25 to stockholders of record Nov. 21. The directors will vote on Nov. 25 on changing the par value from $50 to $10 and exchanging five new shares for each old share.

"THEIR FEET ARE AWASH IN GOLD, YET THEY WAVER"

Before the mighty columns of good business rise the cries of the timid.

Is America, like an old man with protected savings, now to be cautious? Can the daring of early pioneers be gone to seed? With a fighting record behind them, are American men to tolerate soft living or soft pedaling?

AMERICA must go forward. The lashings of pride, the thirst for progress, should drive us on. Only decadence or an old man's phobia can halt us. There is no place in this country for the timidity that hoards its possessions. We are too young to withdraw hand and brain from the fight. America has won its place through stubborn combat. Our present progress is but a beginning. We have but culled the first fruits.

Business is good, though the spiritless find the new competition tough going. New forces, which as yet have not been measured, are in play. There are new sweeping currents in business which have been set in motion and which are puzzling.

The spectacle of life has become kaleidoscopic. Yet the aggregate volume of business is steadily mounting. The clink of coin and the rustle of greenbacks in the pay envelope are louder. The wage earner is earning more, is spending more.

The gas of war boom has escaped. There still remain great volumes of business for those who want it hard enough to take it.

"Gone Are the Days"

A multitude of new wants has juked old stand-bys. Time has transformed many former novelties and specialties into staples. Popular demand for some has vanished overnight. Style and progress have made some products suddenly obsolete. If yours is one which has seen others swept along on the tide of public favor, find out why.

True, because ten new products are now clamoring for a share of the public's dollar, business may be harder to get. But the prizes are just as lucrative as ever. Tactics must change. If people are not buying from a certain group of factory owners, it is because they are buying elsewhere. Some manufacturers suffer not because people are not buying at all but because the public does not want their commodities or does not know about them. Compare your own diversity of expenditures with those of your father's.

Who is getting the money? Check payments, less-than-carload merchandise shipments, savings deposits, investment purchases, all are on a rising tide. Business is different, but also it is bigger. The saddle-worn have little to give to the new competitive selling. Mass production and an increased wage scale have smashed them. The diehards face disaster. The alert ride with the winds.

Producing New Buyers for Your Product

Confident in the new prosperity of the United States and particularly of this favored region, The Chicago Territory, The Chicago Tribune is driving ahead. Circulation of The Sunday Tribune has been consistently higher than in corresponding periods of last year. The right product, the right methods, the courage of execution, do get returns. There is no balm of Gilead in the newspaper business. We have no sure thing. What we get we fight for. A better product under constant improvement to meet the advancing demands of readers does find success. And these additional readers are that much greater strength in the hands of our advertisers.

EACH time in the past when our circulation has risen advertisers in The Tribune have found their returns so much greater. Steadily each month, this year, last year, for years back, the circulation of The Sunday Tribune has exceeded the same month of the preceding year. With each increase of 10,000, 25,000, 100,000 new readers of their advertising, sales of Tribune advertisers' products have felt the impetus of an expanded market.

Today The Sunday Tribune places on the staffs of its advertisers 1,201,612 salesmen. This number of copies suggests, persuades, convinces in the world's richest market. The same million-plus salesmen, accredited, appealing, successful—the most profitable on the pay roll of their employers—are available for other aggressive organizations.

When sales come harder, additional effort produces the quota. When competition cuts in on the business, more prospects must be reached. And in this struggle for sales The Chicago Tribune has placed a greater weapon in the hands of advertisers. Sales managers of nationally advertised products, department store heads, small shop keepers have tested and testified to the productivity of The Tribune. And with each new increase in circulation sales are certain to increase proportionately.

Greater Concentration

Coming at a time when business men are exclaiming about the increased cost of doing business these 1,201,612 families present a market of one billion seven hundred million dollars.

THE city of Chicago alone offers a market of eleven hundred and fifty-three million dollars annually. Seventy-four per cent of Chicago's families turn to The Sunday Tribune for their spending suggestions. Through one newspaper you open up a market of $850,000,000.

Annual expenditures in Chicago are staggering. Factory outputs are swallowed without causing a ripple. Chicago people spend a mere $10,000,000 for beds. Buying $356,000,000 worth of food requires another $18,000,000 for stoves and ranges and $12,000,000 for refrigerators. Clothes worth $180,000,000 require bureaus, chiffoniers, etc., worth $15,000,000. $10,000,000 worth of cleaning supplies, soaps, etc., is used each year, and 700,000 dozen towels. These are only typical of the items that cause the golden clangor of the market. And to guarantee that market Chicago spends $1,000,000 annually for its baby carriages.

No matter what you are selling, there are greater sales ahead if you use The Chicago Tribune. Our files contain a growing list of energetic concerns who, determined to get greater sales, got them with profit by using The Tribune.

Ask for a Tribune man to work out with you the details of your program of sales expansion in the Chicago territory.

GASOLINE ALLEY—COMMITTEE IN SESSION

INSTALLMENT XLVI.
FAREWELLS.

SYNOPSIS.
Jane Craigin does not appear for the opening of a famous trial. His younger brother, Bruce Galt, whom Bruce knew in college as The Goldfish, a student of psycho-analysis with a strange power over men and tricks of mind reading, begins work on the case. And the murdered body of Robert Christie, in a公务员's cottage, the tenant of which is said to be a young woman named Kate Randall.

Jane Simmons, Bruce's faithful secretary, is poisoned in a restaurant by a young woman who meets her back to the judge's office and volunteers to substitute for her. She calls Bruce Mary Allen. Galt, meeting her there is suspicious and has her shadowed, whereupon she disappears. Bruce, realising he loves her, starts to search for her and is badly injured in a motor accident.

The detective finds Mary Allen and has her brought back to New York. He tells Judge Galt that he can save Mary from arrest by marrying her. The Judge agrees to marry her.

INSTALMENT XLVI.
FAREWELLS.

When The Goldfish and Mary Craigin went to see the agent for terms on the cottage her open delight at the prospect of getting it prompted the agent to ask half again as much as he expected to get.

On their drive back through Staten Island to the ferry The Goldfish left the car unattended to lose herself in thought.

She came into Bruce's room, glowing and with the breath of salt winds about her. Even before she took off her hat and coat she began telling him about the shack. "All it needs is just a bit of furniture, hangings, a few books and pictures."

From the table beside the bed Bruce took up a little leather encased check book and handed it to her.

"And will you do something for me?" he hastened to say. "We'll have to have something to run about in; practically at once if you're to keep going to the little shack. Will you go shopping for a car for us? I know you know how."

"Why certainly I'll run and get a car!" she cried, her gayety a little with. "What kind do you want?"

"Nothing less than just the kind you want."

The new car rolled up to the house the very next day, driven by Mary herself. In line and color, in body and proportion it reflected her feeling of power and needs. It had dignity and youthfulness, substantial and capacity for speed. There was room for only two; but a considerable amount of luggage could be tucked away in it.

"Too bad you can't see it. But I'll show it to you," she said. "But you'll have to wait until we see it and the shock the mind's day."

"Never mind, you won't have much of it to spare if you insist on preparing shack all yourself. Won't you let me get you a man to help?"

"How like a man to suggest it! No, I'll share the pleasure of furnishing Measuring Flour.

It is a well-known fact that the common baking powder breakfast muffin will be too stiff, and not half as attractive as it would be if it did not have two tablespoons extra of flour. It doesn't seem that two tablespoons of flour ought to make such a difference in the texture, as they often will, but it is a fact.

The old recipes for cakes and breads rarely give the exact measurements for the flour because in those days flour had not in any degree been standardized as it has today. The product of the different mills in the old days varied so much that it was impossible to give a definite amount and always it is true now that flour will vary as to the amount of liquid it will absorb, so that judgment is really a prime element in making batters and doughs as well. We do not like the stiff quick breads as well as we like the softer ones, and, in fact, we have learned to make exceedingly spongy products, much more so than formerly.

There used to be many sorts of stiff cakes, like hard gingerbread. Today we have date bars and pecan sticks, which are of much the same nature, but more palatable because of the delicious flavor of the fruit and nuts. These should be stiff, but they must be stiff in the right way, and this is a little difficult to explain. When stiff and crisp they may be quite ideal.

A recent letter of derision concerning the peanut stick has convinced us of this truth. We doubt if the fault in the product made was due to the amount of flour used, but it might have been. Some people in measuring flour are so anxious to get the lightest effects that they sieve it into the cup. The more universal practice is to sift the flour, put it into the cup with a tablespoon, then with a spatula smooth it off. This is called stricken measure, a term that was formerly used instead of level for teaspoons and cups, etc. The larger number of recipes that are printed today call for a cup of flour which is measured in this fashion, but if by any accident or design the cup is shaken the flour will settle to such an extent that two more tablespoons of it can be added, and these will often make a batter of an undesirable sort.

Centuria Hunt, Set for Thanksgiving, to Thrill Lake Foresters

BY NANCY R.—
Thanksgiving day's festal boards will be groaning indeed in Lake Forest, for the final meet of the Onondaga hunters is to take place at the home of Benjamin Leavenworth, the Harford, the Spring Valley, and the Harford, I asked Mr. Behr whether which of our enthusiasts has come for the doings, only to learn that they're all loyal to their home this autumn.

The last season for the Onondaga hunt at the old stand, as the snow belt fall at their new property in Millburn, some twelve miles west and north of their present territory, and almost all the regulars are planning to take part in the Thanksgiving hunting hunt, to make it one grand thing.

There are few more picturesque scenes in this neck o' the woods than those hunting gatherings, the men in their gay pink coats and high hats, and the women in trim clothe habits—most of them riding man fashion, though one or two still use side saddles, which I'm told, is the safest way for women to jump, as it gives them a better knee grip. One well known Indian used to be the most modest, were stock knee, and most of the time he was the latter had the most trouble when it came to difficult riding. Among the Lake Foresters who go in for hunting with a seriousness that has got it on the social map as one of the more diversionary hereabouts, are the David Adlers, the J. A. Kings, the Nibuckles, the Donald Ryersons, the T. Ryersons, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Howard Linn, B. L. and Joseph T. Bowens, Mrs. Hubbard, the Noble Judahs, Miss Smith and Miss Janet Chase, Ralph E. Steve and Bob Jennings, E. J. Bergquist, and Clymer Bowen.

Day's News in Society

The John Borden's residence at 1450 Edgewater street was turned into a sublimated shop yesterday for a sale of novelties, linens, and toys at the Eliz Bates shop. Mrs. William McCormick Blair, head of that shop, Mr. Borden and a corps of society women busily played the shop clerk all day with pencils and order pads, delicate luncheon sets and napkins of all kinds were laid out in the stunning dining room with its Abram Poole mural, tables of novelties lined the walls of the hall, and the book room soon intriguing imported toys. Mrs. Borden entertained at luncheon for her wife, who included Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Frank D. Munro, Mrs. Edward K. Powers, Mrs. Russell Parsons, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, Mrs. Lester McCormick, and Mrs. Lawrence M. Viles. Mrs. Borden was wearing red, Mrs. Blair was in navy blue, and Mrs. Viles wore a fetching costume of gray.

Borden's orders kept Miss Elizabeth Linn at home yesterday afternoon with a attack of influenza, but her vacation was in progress. The blouse and professed dress she was to have worn for the occasion hung in the closet, and she didn't have to choose which of the several corsets that had been sent her to carry. Mr. and Mrs. James Weber Linn, the boy's parents, her aunt, Miss Jane Adams, and her sister, Miss Jane Linn, did the honors at the Linn residence at 1887 East 55th street in the face of the unprecedented situation presented by a debutanteless debut. Mrs. Linn was gowned in a velvet. Miss Linn was in green and blue velvet and silk. Assistant to Miss Rosemary Morrison, Miss Barbara Neff, Miss Katherine Kales, Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Eleanor Dennehy, and Miss Ethel Harmon.

Another debut event, also on the south side, was the reception at which Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Farre presented their daughter, Miss Barbara Farr, yesterday afternoon at the Farr residence at 4785 Woodlawn avenue. Miss Farre's pink chiffon gown assistants were Miss Florence Sargent, Miss Grace Goodwin, Miss Mary Harts, Miss Sarah Carr, Miss Susan Munro, and Miss Lucy Lawson. Reddy with Miss Farre were Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard, Mrs. Edward Wiley, Mrs. Edwin Hart, Mrs. C. A. Jones, Mrs. W. B. Hanlon, and Miss Jessie Farr.

Evanston's smart set dined and dandied for the benefit of the Cradle Club at the Opera club last night. Most of the groups were "switch back" affairs with 8 on 10 at a table. Among those entertained were Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Cyrus Garnett, and Mrs. V. H. Neal. Mrs. John H. Belding, son of Mrs. Hiriam H. Belding of Riverside.

Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Bosart Clifton of Cincinnati, O., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Henry Turner, son of Col. and Mrs. Avery L. Turner of Chicago.

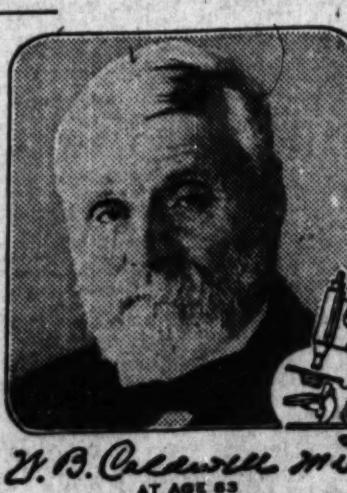

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, wholesome food, and plenty of fresh air and sunshine. The fact that early man were drastic and purgative for the sake of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe good for human beings gave birth to his system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used on patients.

The prescription for constipation that was early in his practice, and which is drug stores in 1875 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a simple, natural remedy, intended for mothers, children and elderly people, and they need not be mild, like bowel stimulants as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that Dorsett's Syrup Pepsin has won the confidence of people who need it to get relief from headaches, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad dreams, colds and fevers.

We would be glad to have you prove at what expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

By Gladys Bravos

Dogs Delight to Bark and Bite.

One of the readers of THE TAIMBON has asked me to write on the subject of the quarreling that goes on among children in the same family. It is one of the most difficult things I have ever had to do. Of course I could suggest some simple plan or suggest remedies as a theorist. That would be easy. But to give practical suggestions for stopping it is another matter—and hard for me to do because the tendency or habit itself is hard to break.

In the first place, it is a pretty general failing. And by that I do not mean a universal one because there are families where the children happen temperamentally to fit and they get along with perfect harmony.

In the second place, quarreling does not mean that the children don't love each other. As far as I can make out from my own experience and that of others, sibling affection has nothing to do with it—they may quarrel and love each other dearly, or quarrel and hate each other very slightly.

This quarreling propensity among youngsters must have existed in the human family for some time. I remember my grandmother saying that old doggerel,

"Dogs delight to bark and bite,

It's their nature to—"

etc. Grown people often laughingly refer to their childhood squabbles.

And I shall never forget one weekend when we made our first visit to the country home of a friend. They were the most friendly, loving family I had ever seen. When the big handsome brothers came in—married, with young children—so gay, so affectionate—and took their sisters off to ride horseback, so devoted to their mother, was I enchanted.

Theirs started them on reminiscences and one of the first things they said was, "Do you remember how we used to fight when we were children? And how Jane was so mad at Malcolm that she walked the streets all one afternoon until after dinner and wouldn't come home until she saw mother come from the train, and we were so frightened?"

Children usually outgrow the habit but that doesn't make it any pleasanter while it lasts—until they have gotten enough sense to bear and forgive. When children are inclined to quarrel over this and quarrel over that, a helpful thing is to reduce their affinity to some sort of system.

Let each, for instance, have a place for his or her own things—clothes, toys, books, money. Let them do whatever chores they do to help, in turn, dividing the work fairly according to their ages. Let them take their pleasures in the same way—if it's not possible for them all to go on trips and have treats at the same time, let them take their trips and treats in turn. Where it is possible, let them have their own rooms. It is often being together too much that makes some temperaments clash—not only with children, but with grownups.

With this end in view maneuver things yourself occasionally. If you see ructions ahead, stop them by indirect methods, by calling one child away to do something for you, or even directly deal with it by separating them from each other because they can't agree. And above everything, don't permit quarreling at the table. There is one place where you can forbid it and enforce your command. I can think of no more unpleasant function than a family meal at which discord reigns. There is still something symbolic about the breaking of bread—it should be approached with a measure of dignity, and dignity and discord do not go hand in hand.

Milord and Milady Join Hands on Style

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Equality for women—such is the pledge demanded by all the young feminists of the land whose ages range from 3 to 6 or 7. As a result, the brother-and-sister movement goes with all its customary fervor, and either it leads to an impartial allotment of the bifurcated garments, or whether the young lady is put off with a mere skirt, there is always such a marked relation between the two garments that the girl of the family grows up, nowadays, with no gnawing sense of inferiority.

Illustrative of the brother-and-sister crusade is the above pair of garments designed for those formal occasions that sometimes creep into the life of the younger generation. For the dancing class or perhaps for the wedding procession are destined these two creations of pink georgette set off with touches of white net.

Observe how closely girl's costume approximates that of the boy! For his waistline is substituted tiny bolero set off with a cockade of the white net and over this bolero falls a collar identical with the one which is a creation of lace by little vestes. But only by a comparison of skirt and trouserettes do we get the full measure of the ingenuity displayed. Look at the tiny tiers on milord's skirt echoed by similar tiers on milady's trousers and observe that in both versions they are slit at the sides. Furthermore, each costume is bound at essential points with self-material.

Only for state occasions should the georgette be employed. That goes

She Remembered.

I sometimes visit a married couple who are in the habit of presenting one with cigar or two during my calls.

Last Saturday, after a two months' absence, I made my call, and husband had me some cigars.

I complimented him on his taste, commenting at the same time, caustically on the X cigars on the market, saying that the cabbages were not fit for any human being to smoke.

Said wife to husband, "R cigars in future, hubby; if you remember, we gave him the X brand on his last visit." B. T.
